Grocery strike

Even without one, labor pact may raise food bill

By BRUCE THORNTON
Staff Writer

Negotiations have begun in a labor dispute that has all the indications of developing into a bruising battle before settlement is reached.

Meeting eyeball to eyeball over the conference table regularly in an attempt to pound out an agreement are representatives of 83,000 food clerks in Southern California — members of the Retail Clerks Union — and the Food Employers Council, Inc.

This confrontation has more than a passing interest to everyone who eats.

Given the issues involved and the attitudes of the conferees, there appears to be a possibility — maybe a probability — of a strike.

Not only would a strike make finding a place to buy food difficult during the work stoppage, it would doubtless increase — at least to some degree — the consumer's grocery bill after a settlement is reached.

In an attempt to explain the anatomy of a labor contract negotiation, The Daily Report talked to Larry D. Sooter, president of the Retail Clerks Union Local 1428, headquartered in Pomona, and Robert K. Fox, president of the Food Employers Council, with offices in Los Angeles.

Local 1428 is one of nine Southern California locals extending from the Kern County Line to the Mexican border that are involved in the negotiations.

Both spokesmen profess a sincere desire to settle the issues with as little dissention as possible.

"We've submitted our initial proposals," said Sooter. "These proposals are subject to negotiation from both sides of the table. This means that any or all of them could be subject to modification. It's my hope that these negotiations are settled in a non-adversary atmosphere."

As for Fox, he said:

"We going to do everything we can that's reasonable to reach a fair and equitable agreement."

Yet, neither is reluctant to talk about the possibility of a strike.

As for the status of the negotiations, Sooter explained that on June 4 the union gave the food council its total list of proposals, except those involving health and welfare and pensions.

After the June 4 confab, two meetings were held last week — on Tuesday and Friday. Beginning this week, both sides have agreed to meet in negotiating sessions on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays for succeeding weeks.

The contract to be negotiated probably will be for three years and will cover all market employees except meatcutters, Sooter said.

The union has established a deadling of July 22 for termination of negotiations.

"No negotiations will continue past that point," he specified.

The current three-year contract expires July 26.

On July 26, Sooter explained, two meetings have been scheduled by Local 1428 at 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. in Mt. San Antonio College football stadium to vote on the contract that has been reached during the weeks of negotiations.

The voting will determine whether the contract will be approved by the union members or it will be rejected and a strike will ensue.

He pointed out that locals in other counties will be voting concurrently, some requiring as much as two days to complete their voting because of the size of the territory they cover.

Sealed ballot boxes from all of the locals will be sent to ballot counting headquarters in Buena Park where, on July 28 at 10 a.m., vote counting will begin.

Because of the massive number of votes to be tallied from the nine counties, counting will take from 4-6 hours, Sooter said. The counties are San Bernardino, Riverside, San Diego, Orange, Los Angeles, Kern, Santa Barbara, San Luis Opispo and Ventura.

If a strike is called, it would be districtwide, Sooter said, involving all of the 83,000 union members in Southern California.

"If one strikes," he said, "we all strike. It will be a pooled vote."

Asked where people will buy food if a strike closes the markets, Sooter said, "We have our independent markets that will remain open."

Why?

First, he answered, to serve the public, and second, "we don't want to break the small markets."

It's doubtful these independent markets have the financial resources to withstand a long strike, he said. But he added that most of the employees of these markets do belong to the union.

Sooter listed the major chains that will be affected by the current negotiations. They include Albertson's, Alpha Beta, Arden-Mayfair, Boys Markets, Certified Grocers Foods Co., Inc., (Mayflower), Hughes Markets,

Shoppers in the West End and throughout Southern California have more than passing interest in current contract negotiations between major supermarkets and the Retail Clerks Union, which represents 83,000 grocery clerks. If negotiations, which have been going on for months, do not lead to a new contract by next month, the possibility of a strike looms.

Alfred M. Lewis, Inc., Lucky Stores, Market Basket, Newmart Co. (Beverage Distributors, Inc.), Ralphs, Safeway, Smith's Food King and Stater Brothers.

Fox, chief negotiator for the Food Employers Council, said the employers "are alarmed and apprehensive" about the union's demands.

So far, he said early last week, the employers council had received no wage or benefit demands except that the union is asking for a 32-hour week for 40 hours of pay. "Their so-called non-economic demands, not to mention their wage demands, are enough to precipitate a strike," he charged.

"With reluctance, I have contacted all of the people we represent and told them to begin preparation for a strike."

What are the chief concerns of the Food Employers Council as they participate in the contract negotiations?

"We're vitally concerned," Fox said, "with the problem of productivity and efficiency in the markets. It has been on the decline for the past 20 years and there is no way to overcome (the current) inflationary spiral and the great problem of food prices unless ways and means are found to increase productivity."

The union's Sooter was asked if, without becoming involved in any financial specifics, he didn't think the union's proposals are inflationary.

"I'd have to say they are," he answered, "but food prices have been going up every day. Our clerks received a wage increase only last February and before that last July. Not excluding these two months, prices have been going up every month. The retail food industry is having record profits and we feel the clerks should be getting a larger share of them."

Student guards are effective at Upland school

By DINAH ROSE
Staff Writer

Some of the orange-jacketed sixth graders barely stand tall enough to see over the tops of cars whizzing down 22nd Street. Yet, after two years, the student crossing guard program has made the street in front of Valencia School safer.

"It's not easy for them," said Upland police Officer Larry Mendoza, who oversees the program. "It can be frightening for a 60-pound sixth grader to try and stop a 3,000-pound car. That's why we give them training."

Since the program began in fall of 1979, Mendoza said the average speed of cars on the street when students are going to and from school has dropped from 30-35 mph to 20-22 mph.

"That translates into about 117 feet more stopping space for a vehicle," said Mendoza. "The kids have really helped the situation on this street."

Valencia is the only Upland school utilizing students as crossing guards, but Mendoza said plans are being made to expand the program.

Students must maintain a high academic standard to be admitted into the program and display responsibility and willingness to report to the job every day.

At the end of the year, teams of fifth graders are chosen to serve as guards for the next school year. They are trained by the graduating crossing guards and the Upland Police Department.

The guards never actually enter the street, but are taught to stop traffic with the use of a sign mounted on a long pole. Three students are used at each crossing — one on either side of the street with the signs to control vehicular traffic, and a third to keep an eye on pedestrians and give them permission to cross.

The guards also have the authority to issue citations. According to Abe Salen, 11, of the afternoon patrol, pink slips are handed out to students who ride their bikes on the specially marked lanes on school property, and to walkers who dart into the street without a guard's permission, start fights, run or use profanity.

When asked if this at times makes them unpopular with other students, guard Stacey Pichotta, 11, admitted it occasionally made for difficult moments.

"Sometimes they think you're just a show-off," she said, "but most of the time they listen. It really makes you feel like you're doing something for the school."

Principal Roger Schulte enthusiastically supports the program, commending the role it plays in teaching students leadership.

Teacher Michael Gregory serves as adviser to the patrol. He said it is occasionally necessary to replace a student who cannot fulfill the duties of the job.

"Some kids just aren't quite mature enough yet," he said. "They may not show up on time, or will stand and talk to friends, or start making a lot of complaints about their assignment to their captains.

"It's important that they work as a team."

David Stark, 12, is captain of the morning patrol. He talks seriously about the importance of the job, and the difficulty of "keeping the troops happy" all the time.

"(Guards) usually start out the beginning of the year very excited and enthusiastic," he said. "But as the months wear on, they begin to get tired of coming in every day, day after day.

"That's why we started doing things like rotating captains' positions — it gives everyone a chance to be the boss."

The responsibility for all the members is present, though. Students who receive too many citations from guards may have their parents contacted and privileges revoked.

Guards are also trained to take down license numbers and descriptions of cars that ignore their orders to stop. The information is turned over to the police department, which contacts the registered owner of the vehicle.

"We've also had a problem with motorists trying to pick up children in the past," said Mendoza. "Since we've had the guards — who are trained to observe this sort of action — I can't remember the last call of that sort we had for Valencia.

"It's an added benefit of the program we didn't count on."

Smelly problem

20-year-old Upland trash pile to be bulldozed

By DINAH ROSE
Staff Writer

Something is rotten in the state of Denmark.

Hamlet. Act I. Sc. 4.

Shakespeare may have been referring to politics in his famous quote, but Upland residents — particularly those in the northeast sector — will have something literally "rotten" to talk about for the next few weeks.

Workers are bulldozing into 20-year-old trash buried in the old landfill at Campus Avenue and 14th Street.

The resulting odor will "not be very pleasant," according to city engineer Fred Blanchard, but the action is necessary to avoid potentially polluting underground water basins that serve as a source of city water.

"No one thought about the effect trash would have buried underground in the 1950s when the landfill was started," said Blanchard. "We're not alone in having to correct resulting problems — it's happening all over the country."

The potential problem was brought to the city's attention by the staff of the water quality control board. Apparently when the dump was first opened, the city agreed to leave a drainage ditch running north-south through the site to handle overflow from a flood control basin near 15th Street.

A wooden railroad trestle near 14th Street was in use at the time, and plans were to have the channel run under the bridge.

The channel was still used as a landfill, but trash was only allowed to accumulate 15 feet deep before it was covered with earth. Trash in other areas of the dump may be as deep as 30 feet, according to Blanchard.

The drainage channel can still be spotted north of a cement culvert near the middle of the site. Water from that point flows through a drainage system, and comes out south of Foothill Boulevard near Memorial Park.

"The water quality control people are concerned that water may seep down through the trash under the ditch, into the water basin below," said Blanchard. "The degree of hazard is not great, but it is there, and something needs to be done."

Beginning Monday, workers wearing gas masks will start to dig out the 15 feet of trash under the ditch.

"I compare it to something unpleasant like going to the dentist," said Blanchard. "No one wants to do it, but the quicker you get it over with, the better.

"It's something that has to be done."

He said unearthed trash will be relocated to a spot in the southwest corner of the site. Dig areas and the new landfill area will be recovered with soil at the end of each working day, in the hope of lessening the strong odor at least during the nighttime hours.

Blanchard said the job was scheduled for June since the weather is generally mild this time of year. The unseasonable heat has come as an unwelcome surprise.

The site will be shut down on days when the pollution level is ruled too high. If work is allowed to continue uninterrupted, he estimated the job will take about three weeks to complete.

In the meanwhile, area residents may have to put up with a June filled not only with the scent of summer flowers, but remnants of the city's 20-year-old trash.

Six OMSD schools to begin hour later

By RICHARD PERAZA
Staff Writer

Classes will begin as much as an hour later at six Ontario-Montclair School District elementary schools this fall in an effort to cut district bus transportation costs.

A near-capacity crowd of parents and teachers filled an approximately 375-seat auditorium to protest and see trustees approve Superintendent Bill Plaster's recommendation to stagger school starting times.

Parents and teachers urged the board not to adopt the measures, saying they would cause too many problems for parents who must leave for work before children leave for school and will extend the school day later into the afternoon when heat and smog will cut learning potential.

The six affected schools will all begin classes at 9 a.m. Those schools and their present starting times are: Mariposa, 8:15 and 8:30 a.m.; Hawthorne, 8:15 and 8:30 a.m.; Del Norte, 8:30 a.m.; Berlyn, 8 a.m.; Edison, 8:30 a.m.; Margarita, 8:30 a.m. and Moreno, 8:15 a.m.

Only one trustee, Vice President Kathleen Brugger, voted against the proposal after hearing more than an hour of protests. She said she felt parent complaints were valid and that a better solution could be worked out. Students, she said, learn better during the morning hours than in the afternoons.

The proposal stemmed from attempts to cut the cost of providing bus transportation for 2,700 of the district's approximately 14,000 students. "This one item in the current budget exceeds $1 million," Plaster said.

He said staggering school starting times would allow some buses to serve double duty, delivering children to one school, then starting another set of routes to serve another school.

According to Plaster, it will shave $402,000 from the budget next year because it will cut the need to hire new bus drivers, cut bus maintenance by cutting the size of the district fleet and eliminate the need to purchase six new buses next year.

"If you don't save money in this area, you'll have to save this same amount of money in other areas ... personnel, books or others. It could affect a good salary settlement for our employees," he said.

Brenda Henry said she is one of many parents who will have a child who "will have to leave the house, lock up all alone and go to school" because both parents must leave for work before the child will need to leave for class.

She agreed with Brugger, saying, "I think you'll find in most of our schools now they do all the testing in the morning because that's when they're more alert."

Plaster said many schools across the state that have adopted later starting times haven't experienced a drop in student's scores on state tests.

Henry noted there have been "11 new positions in the administration building." She said she feared the money saved would be used to fund administrators, not teachers and students.

One woman said she won't allow her child to prepare for school alone; she will have to quit her job instead.

"You're going to have more tardies and more truancy," Debbie Lasser warned the trustees. She said many children, if not pushed out the door, may decide to stay home instead of attending their daily classes.

She said working parents could get morning baby sitters but many can't afford that.

"I can't see how it can be any more dangerous having a child at home alone in the morning than having him alone at home in the afternoon," Trustee Rose Kelber said. "We educate the children; are we supposed to baby sit them too?"

Ontario-Montclair Teachers Association President Seldon Stone said teachers are as unhappy with the proposal as parents. He said they're not as concerned with staggering times as they are with starting at 9 a.m. It's just too late in the day, he said.

Stone suggested a compromise. He suggested elementary schools be staggered with half an hour between starting times but that all elementary times be moved back 15 minutes.

Neely Titus, of the transportation department, said too many of the buses are tied up then delivering students to junior high schools. He said he didn't know how many were used for junior high schools but said it wasn't all 13 buses planned for use next year.

Trustee James Strait suggested moving all school starting times — including junior high schools — back 15 minutes or half an hour to give the buses enough time to make their runs.

But Titus said that would mean some students would be walking to bus stops as early as 6:15 a.m.

Trustees said that would be unsafe because it's too dark then during the winter months.

Plaster said the measure adopted by trustees Thursday will save $402,000 next year but in subsequent years the amount saved may be much less. Much of the savings is from not needing six new replacement buses in September and that's not a recurring cost.

"Very frankly, I think we're going to face the same problem (cutting transportation costs) next year," he said.

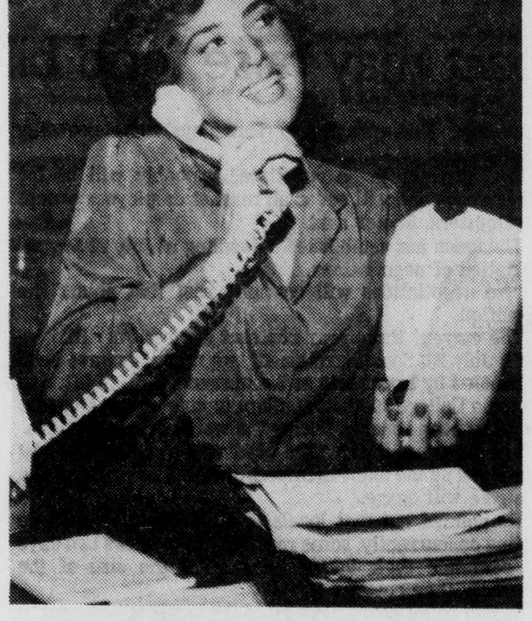

Ontario's Sheryl Kamper

Princess speaks out for milk

To Sheryl Kamper, the axiom, "You are what you eat," is not only self-evident, it holds special meaning.

The Ontario Miss is the California State Dairy Princess and her deep-seated belief in milk and dairy foods can be attributed in great part to the fact that her father is a dairyman as was his father before him. She is the daughter of Pete and Nellie Kamper of Ontario.

Her father's life-long involvement in the dairy industry always meant that fresh, whole milk, brought straight from the dairy, was served with every meal. "I think this began my early training in nutrition," she said. "I was encouraged to eat well by my mother and I can say now that it has really paid off."

The first lady of dairying, the number one agricultural product for the number one industry in the state, is Sheryl Kamper of Ontario.

As a member of the California Milk Advisory Board public relations department, Sheryl has been given the opportunity to "tell it like it is" about milk and dairy foods. And speak out she does.

One of her many duties as Dairy Princess has been to visit with school-age children, youth groups and scouts and discuss not only her activities during her year-long reign, but just what eating well can do in terms of more energy for sports and better school work.

"I always point out that they should think of milk as the energy food because of the protein milk offers," says Sheryl, whose own rigorous schedule demands that she keeps going from sun up to late evening appearances and dinner engagements. She says she also encourages choosing one food from each of the four food groups at every meal and believes this can help kids stay on top both nutritionally and scholastically.

Also involved in her own fitness program, Miss Kamper works out at a gymnasium between appearances, and as a result, enjoys discussing weight control and physical fitness with teens.

"I tell them that contrary to what they've heard, milk is actually low in calories," she said. "In fact, an eight ounce glass of whole milk, with a calorie count of about 150 has fewer calories than 15 potato chips, one of the staples in a teen-ager's diet."

The princess also has found that teen-agers are surprised to hear that nutritionists recommend whole milk for healthier skin. "The vitamin A is so abundant in milk that it seems like an easy way to do so many nice things for your body as well as your complexion."

In addition to visiting schools, Sheryl also speaks with consumers and admits that the issue of additives and preservatives has become a great concern in today's nutrition - conscious world.

"People aren't settling for refined and processed foods in their diets, they want good, wholesome food," she said, adding "that is why it's so easy to sell milk — there is nothing artificial or fabricated about it — it's a natural!

"Aside from pasteurizing and homogenizing, to meet the high standards imposed by the dairy industry, only vitamins A and D are added to fortify and enrich the milk," Miss Kamper said with the knowledge that comes from a lifetime of close ties with dairying.

Banquet honors band performers

More than 350 parents, students and administrators attended the first awards banquet for the Upland High School Highlander Marching Bands and attached units on May 26.

The band program, including attached units, involved a total of 167 students.

Forty people received certificates of award for outstanding support of band fundraisers and service, including top sellers Lori Pepin, Deanne Ditomasso, Kim Lyman, Amy Lapin, Pam Clappier, Greg Heer and Shannon and Stephanie Cowden.

The band presented a special tribute and plaque at the festivities to the Ontario Elks Lodge 1419 for providing the evening's dinner.

Another 37 trophies were presented to students in various categories, including most spirited, most improved, best dancer, best marcher and hardest worker.

Top awards went to Kim Lyman, Rodney Bowman, Terri Robinson and Suzanne Simpson as best marchers; Shannon Cowden as Tall Flag of the Year; Nanette Wilson as drill team Hi Lassie of the Year; Gayle Serdan, Louis Armstrong Award; Eric Schneider, Shirley Carter Memorial Award; and Jon Trautwein, John Phillip Sousa award.

New leaders for the 1981-1982 season were announced. Kim Ciemiewicz is solo twirler; Suzanne Wedblad and Tammy Welmiak, tall flag lieutenants; Stephanie Cowden, tall flag captain; Suzanne Simpson, drill team sergeant; Michell Matthews, drill team second lieutenant; Claudia Purkis, drill team first lieutenant; Nanette Wilson, drill team captain; Jane Turner, pipe sergeant; Glen Fraze, pipe major; and Richard Moncada, drum major.

Leaders of the past year honored with trophies included Tall Flag Co-Captain Kathleen Wakefield; Captain Stephanie Cowden; Drill Team Corporal Lori Echols; Drill Team Sergeant Sue Haas; Drill Team Second Lieutenant Jeanne Haynes; Drill Team First Lieutenant Shawna Lindsey and Drill Team Captain Brenda Uphold. Kim Lyman was drum major last year.

Special awards went to Dennis and Barbara Clappier in appreciation for their four years of service and dedication to the band program.

Jan Wright, Upland High School principal, received a special plaque for meritorious service and contributions to the UHS band program.

Other award winners included Jackie Dineen, Debbie Schroeder, Diane Fittante, Mary Geyer, Pam Clappier, Christine Cunningham and Katie Story for most spirited; Bridget Toerner, Cathy Whyte, Dan Clucas, Erin Porter, Gary Karp, Diane Fittante and Robert Carrasco for most improved; Mark DiVolld for most improved jazz player; and Tammy Welniak and Holly Studebaker for hardest working.

Greg Heer, student band manager, received the helping hand award in addition to a special gift and award for an outstanding job.

Senior wills, for the 31 graduating members of the band and attached units, were read by Diane Fittante.

Chaffey College chief chosen

Samuel A. Ferguson, a community college president in the San Francisco Bay Area, has been named superintendent-president of Chaffey College effective July 1.

The announcement was made Thursday.

As Chaffey's first black superintendent-president, Ferguson signed a three-year contract that calls for a starting annual salary of $55,000. The selection is expected to be ratified by trustees at next Thursday's board meeting.

"The board of trustees selected Dr. Ferguson on an unanimous vote and we believe that he will be the center of stability that this college so sorely needs," said board president Sharon King-Jeffers in a prepared statement.

"I welcome Dr. Ferguson especially because of his proven ability to work in harmony with his staff in an atmosphere of respect and trust even during periods of turmoil," she said. "He will be an asset to the college and to the district."

Ferguson comes at a time of major changes at Chaffey College. In the last six months, former Superintendent-President James Catanzaro left for another job in the midst of a campaign to recall three trustees. Those trustees were unseated in an April election.

Also, classified workers returned to work this week after a five-day strike.

The college is currently under the leadership of Glenn Gooder, who will leave his temporary position July 15.

The 49-year-old Ferguson began his career as a teaching assistant at Oakwood College in Huntsville, Ala. where he earned a bachelor's degree in biological sciences.

In 1953, he taught anatomy and physiology for the U.S. Medical Corps, and has taught general physiology at the University of San Francisco, later becoming an assistant professor of pharmacology at the College of Dentistry in San Francisco.

In 1968, Ferguson went to the College of San Mateo as an instructor in anatomy and physiology. In 1969 he was named chairman of the division of life sciences.

He later was named associate dean of instruction for arts and sciences, a post he held until going to Canada College.

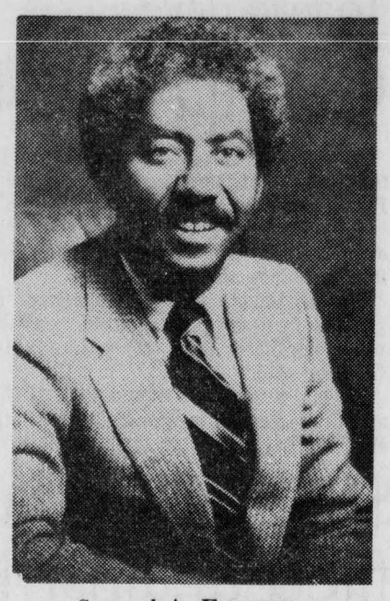

Ferguson received his doctorate in general physiology, with an emphasis in pharmacology, from the University of Pennsylvania in 1961.

He holds lifetime Calfiornia Community College Supervisor, Chief Administrative Officer and teaching credentials. He also possesses surgical technology certification and has done extensive research in the areas of pharmacology and drug misuse at Stanford University.

In 1967 Ferguson was honored for his scientific research by being elected to American Men and Women of Science. He is also listed in "Who's Who in Black America."

Chaffey College received 82 applications for the position of president during a nationwide search that began Feb. 19.

The applications were reviewed by a screening committee, consisting of Phil Hartley, president of the Chaffey College Teachers Association; Ray Turner, president of California School Employees Association, Chapter 431; Erna Noble, representing the Faculty Senate; Margaret Rose, representing supervisory-confidential personnel; Dean of Instruction Teddie Lopez; John Cortez, representing the student body; and the five college trustees.

Samuel A. Ferguson

Lester Johnson, administrator for Affirmative Action and Equal Opportunity programs, was the committee chairman.

The committee selected 16 applicants to be invited to the college for an initial interview and only eight accepted.

Of the 82 applicants received, two were from the local area, 45 from throughout the state and 37 from out of state. The out-of-state applicants included one from the Virgin Islands.

The committee selected three finalists including Ferguson, one from the local area and one from Kansas City, Mo.

Before offering Ferguson a contract, King-Jeffers, trustee Sandra Garner and Johnson spent three days at Canada College interviewing 15 people about the new president.

In addition to the unanimous selection by the board of trustees, Johnson said there was general agreement among members of the screening committee concerning Ferguson's qualifications as the Chaffey College superintendent-president.

Ferguson and his wife, Geraldine, are the parents of five children.

Townsend to run for re-election

Dispelling rumors he would retire, local Supervisor Robert Townsend announced Monday he will seek re-election next year.

Townsend, 57, said he is making his plans clear to quell rumors and phone calls he has received about his intentions.

One rumor went so far as to say he had already submitted his resignation with an effective date pending, Townsend said.

He said the rumors might stem in part from a lack of fund-raisers since 1979. A group of Chino supporters will sponsor a fund-raiser in his behalf in mid-July, he noted.

Along with a variety of other county offices, both of West End supervisorial seats are up for election next June.

The West End's other supervisor, Cal McElwain, has also said he plans to seek re-election.

Townsend represents the 4th District, which includes Montclair, part of Ontario, Chino and its surrounding unincorporated area. Reapportionment of the five board districts will take place before next June's primary.

Jo Dutton named to arts group

Jo Sargent Dutton of Upland has been chosen by an arts steering committee to serve as temporary chairman.

The committee will look into establishing a San Bernardino County governing body to act as an arts council or commission which will serve myriad arts agencies.

Also serving on the committee from the West End are Austin Peay, producer/director of the Ontario Civic Light Opera Association, and Lou Ann Svenson, secretary to the director of the Museum of History and Art, Ontario.

"We have long felt the need for a countywide confederation of cultural councils or chapters which can, as a body with countywide representation, be responsible for bringing together arts groups under an umbrella organization working to support dance, drama, music and visual arts groups in the geographically largest county in the United States," Dutton said.

The need for such an organization was identified in a needs assessment study conducted earlier this year by the Inland Empire Cultural Foundation, Dutton pointed out. The foundation also is know by the acronym CLASS (Cultural League Advocating Support of the arts in Society). Dutton is the CLASS vice president for member relations.

"Because it already has had the legal non-profit status for three years ... the time required to be eligible for grant monies from the California Arts Council ... we are temporarily operating under the aegis of Arrowhead Allied Arts Council in San Bernardino," Dutton said. "But arts representatives from throughout the county will have an equal voice in the steering committee."

Jim Hardesti, publicist, has been named the council's acting executive director by Glenn Rymer, AAAC president. His work will involve helping coordinate committee meetings and activities. Hardesti, public relations director for CLASS, is on part time loan from the foundation throught Sept. 30.

Hardesti is a former UCLA theater arts major, a former theater/film reviewer for a Florida daily newspaper, magazine editor and was once publicist for the Palm Spring Center Theatre.

BOYS & GIRLS PROGRAM

10002 - A 6th St. Rancho Cucamonga

Q. Why give your appliances the afternoon off?

A. The chart tells the story. As the day grows hotter, appliances and particularly air conditioners go on in homes and offices and factories. This summer the electric load will soar, far beyond the regular load supplying your homes and businesses in cooler periods. You can help lighten this load, put off building costly new generating plants and help keep electric bills down by not using your major home appliances during afternoon hours, when demand peaks. So please, give your appliances the afternoon off.

Normal use of home appliances, coupled with increased use of air conditioners in hot weather, causes demand for electricity to increase dramatically.

Camp Fire fund leaders named

The Mt. San Antonio Council's Camp Fire membership fund campaign is getting a helping hand from Attorney Fred Heene Jr. and Augustine "Augie" Tapia.

Steve Graeber, Camp Fire vice-president of research and development, said both men have long been involved in community activities.

The organization's financial resources are being outstripped by heavy participation, "particularly since boys were admitted into the program two years ago," Graeber said.

He said a Camp Fire fund goal of $95,000 has been set and Chino residents wishing to participate can contact Heen or Tapia through the council at 624-5076.

Major Camp Fire programs include social group development through interaction, youth planning and community service, trips, home crafts, volunteer recruitment, training and supervision. There are also social group adjustment and intervention services.

The Mt. San Antonio Council serves an area including Chino, Claremont, Rancho Cucamonga, Ontario and Upland.

Camp Fire is also supported by both the United Way of Los Angeles County and the West End United Way.

$25 million lawsuit filed against Kaiser

A $25 million suit has been filed against Kaiser Steel Corp. by an Upland man who contends that conditions at the Fontana plant resulted in his permanent disability.

Thomas Rex Norton, a 21-year employee at Kaiser and a foreman when he was laid off in January 1980, filed the suit in Los Angeles County Superior Court.

Other defendants named were the steelmaker's trustees and administrators of the company's insurance and retirement plans: Bank of America, Wells-Fargo, First National City Bank of New York and New York Life Insurance Co.

The suit contends that "pollutants, contaminants and poisons" Norton inhaled during his work at Kaiser have caused him "serious and extreme injuries to his entire body," including a congestive lung disease.

Norton blamed the company for failing to take adequate safety measures. He said he was laid off because he was too ill to work, while Kaiser said it was part of an overall reduction in its labor force.

Sawdusters' event

The Sawdusters Square Dance Club will dance June 20 at the Sycamore Elementary School, 225 W. Eighth St., Claremont.

Don Stewart and Gary Fields will be the callers and Leo and Marion Crosby will cue the rounds, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Pageant of the Masters

Famed works of art re-created at festival

Highly talented artists are by no means rare around Laguna's Festival of Arts, where many who reside in the area display their creations during the season, to the delight of people attracted to the event from across the country and around the world.

Even so, very few have chalked up so many successes at the comparatively early age of 27 as one painter whose work has won him a trip to Europe, plus countless additional awards — and a niche in the festival's Pageant of the Masters, which features the re-creation of great works of art with real people posing to look exactly like their counterparts on canvas.

The artist concerned is Richard Bunkall, whose work has graced the festival grounds for the past three years, and who was recently commissioned by pageant director Glen Eytchison to create a work to be featured on the 1981 program along with living look-alikes of masterpieces by such earlier greats as Leonardo da Vinci. Only very rarely in the 48-year history of the pageant has the work of a Laguna artist been so honored.

The item in question is "Coney Island," an oil painting depicting a typical group of day trippers enjoying such things as hot dogs at New York's colorful seaside summer playground.

To audience members, the recreation of the "living - pictures" stage will look exactly like the original work, although the pageant version will be much larger so as to accommodate the cast members.

Born in Pasadena in 1953, Bunkall studied art at Saddleback College for one year — long enough to build up a portfolio that would, he hoped, meet a mandatory requirement for entering the Art Center College of Design in Los Angeles.

His hope was realized in 1974, and for the next three years he devoted all his energies to studying at that distinguished institution. In the spring of 1977, in an acid-test of his progress, he submitted samples of his work in an attempt to gain exhibit space as part of the Festival of Arts scene.

The winning of a prize in the form of a trip to Europe accounted for much of the second half of 1979, when he visited galleries galore in Britain, Turkey, Greece, Italy and France. The prize was awarded in an international competition open to watercolor artists.

Other such honors include the Irvine Foundation Award at the Newport Art Festival. His watercolor and tempera submission took first prize. He has also won awards in New York, besides having his works selected for reproduction in quality magazines such as Orange County Illustrated.

Besides being a festival exhibitor and creator of a work for the pageant program, Bunkall has served the organization in a third capacity: that of juror — one of seven who evaluated samples of work submitted by almost four hundred would-be exhibitors in the spring of 1979. Like his six fellow - jurors, he donated his expertise to the festival — not only on jurying day that year, but also during the seven-week season, a procedure followed each year to assure that grounds visitors see only top-quality exhibits.

Besides painting, Bunkall also teaches — mostly at the institution where he developed his award - winning technique: the Art College of Design. Since he studied with that academy it has moved to Flintridge Hills, not far from Pasadena's Rose Bowl.

His work is displayed over a wide area, including New York, Arizona, and locally at Challis Galleries.

Along with that of some 160 other artists and craftsmen residing in the coastal strip from San Clemente to Newport Beach, his work will be shown on the festival grounds this year from July 14 through Aug. 30. The park-like display area is at 650 Laguna Canyon Road, easy strolling distance from Laguna's beach and downtown areas.

Laguna artist Richard Bunkall's oil painting is re-created with volunteer models in the 1981 Pageant of the Masters, a nightly presentation in Irvine Bowl, Laguna Beach, during the Festival of the Arts season July 14-Aug. 30. Models are, from left, Jason Hollingsworth of Fullerton; Kristin Heard of Santa Ana; Fred Moss of Mission Viejo and Christa Nason of Laguna Niguel.

Chino school board OK's dispatch plan

By LARRY NEUMEIER
Staff Writer

The Chino school board gave its approval Tuesday to a two-year agreement with the city of Ontario to allow the Ontario Fire Department to assume duties as the district's security base station for two years.

The 4-0 vote in favor of the plan will pave the way for construction of a joint dispatch center, which will be located adjacent to district offices on Riverside Drive. Trustee Fred Heene was absent.

The district expects to realize a savings of about $80,000 in staff costs during the length of the agreement, according to H.C. Tanner, assistant superintendent for business services.

"I think it is a wonderful opportunity," Tanner told the board at Tuesday's meeting.

The agreement means that emergency calls to the school district dispatch center after the central switchboard closes at 4:30 p.m. on weekdays will be automatically transferred to the Ontario Fire Department.

The unanimous vote by the school board will permit Tanner to direct the district's contractor, De Witt Ethridge of Los Angeles, to begin work on the planned joint dispatch center. Tanner later said the construction contract will extend for almost one year.

The Ontario Fire Department has already committed itself to assuming the duties of the district base station. The Ontario City Council formally approved the agreement last week, according to a district memorandum.

Overall, the joint dispatch center will be represented by the fire departments from Ontario, the Foothill Fire Protection District and Chino. The city of Chino does not have a fire department.

4 English coaches to teach here

Being touted as "England in California," a Rancho Cucamonga soccer coach has arranged for four English coaches to come to the West End in August to present soccer skills programs.

Art Anthonijsz, who last year took a group of American players to the British Isles, helped arrange for the English Football (soccer) Association qualified coaches to help implement the Wessex Soccer American Session.

All of the coaches are physical education teachers and two of them play semi-professionally.

There will be three sessions offered for youths and two for adults.

The youth sessions are scheduled for Aug. 11 through Aug. 14 for 9-11 year olds; Aug. 18 through 21 for 12-15 year olds; and Aug. 25 through Aug. 28 for 16 to 18 year olds.

The adult sessions, which will allow participants to get the "C" certificate for coaching, will be held Aug. 14 through Aug. 16 and Aug. 21 through Aug. 23.

The program is endorsed by the American Youth Soccer Organization (AYSO) and is open to anyone despite experience level.

The sessions will be held at Alta Loma Junior High School.

Youth bowling league

A youth bowling league is being sponsored by the San Dimas Parks and Recreation Department. The league is open to boys and girls ages 6-15 years, and will be conducted at the Garey Center Bowl in Pomona on Mondays at 1:30 p.m.

The $15 fee will cover shoe rental, two weeks of instruction and bowling costs for the six weeks of league play. Transportation is not provided.

Registration for this program is under way. All registration will take place at the Parks and Recreation Department, San Dimas City Hall, 245 E. Bonita Ave.

For further information, contact the recreation department by calling (714) 599-6713, extension 41.

Beginning bridge

The Claremont Human Services Department is sponsoring two summer beginning bridge classes. The evening class is under way on Monday evenings through Aug. 3. Class is held at the Youth Activity Center from 7 - 8:30 p.m.

Morning bridge began Wednesday and continues for eight weeks through July 16. Class will be held Wednesday mornings from 9 - 11 a.m. at the Youth Activity Center.

Basic bidding and play will be included in both classes. Now is your chance to learn the fun, sociable game of bridge. Pre-registration is required. For further information please call 624-4531, extension 280.

Republican women to meet

Gwyneth L. Gayman, editor of the California Federation of Republican Women's newsletter, "Canvasing the Capitol," will be the speaker for the Chaffey Community Republican Women Federated's luncheon meeting at 11:30 a.m. on Wednesday, June 24, at the Clarebourne, 921 W. Foothill Blvd., Claremont.

In addition to serving as editor of the newsletter, Gayman is second vice president of the southern division and seminar chairman. She will speak on the California Federation of Republican Women's advocacy program.

A former teacher and newspaper columnist, Gayman has served under Charlotte Mousel in charge of the Legislative Advocate's Sacramento Office Fund promotion. She is a graduate of UCLA, and was born in Vancouver, British Columbia.

Reservations for the luncheon should be made before June 22 by calling 985-4537 or 982-5688. The cost of the luncheon is $6.50 per person.

Poetry class

The Claremont Human Services Department is offering a class in poetry for the first time this summer.

The six week class will examine the history of poetry, expression through poetry, changing trends and getting published.

This Tuesday evening class will begin June 23 and continue for six weeks through July 28. Class time is 7:30 - 8:30 p.m. at the Youth Activity Center.

Pre-registration is required.

For all of you future poets, don't miss this excellent course in your field. For further information call 624-4531, extension 280.

Charity baseball

Rancho Cucamonga Emblem Club No. 520 Sluggers will challenge the Rancho Cucamonga Elks No. 2570 Flubbers in a second annual charity softball game on June 21 at 1 p.m. The game will be held at the No. 1 baseball field behind Etiwanda Intermediate School, 6925 Etiwanda Ave., Etiwanda.

Refreshments and hot dogs will be sold, also there will be a bake sale which the proceeds will go to cerebral palsy.

The game is being played in the memory of Elaine Kandel and proceeds of the game will go to the City of Hope in her memory.

Dreier staff member plans visit

Linda Madrid, staff representative for Rep. David Dreier, R-35th Dist., will visit the Montclair Branch Library Friday from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. and the La Verne Branch Library June 26 from 1 to 5 p.m.

Miss Madrid, fluent in Spanish, will meet with constituents who may have problems relating to matters of Social Security, immigration, Medicare, the Internal Revenue Service, or other federal agencies.

R.C. Emblem Club

Rancho Cucamonga Emblem Club No. 520 will hold a social night at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Rancho Cucamonga Elk's Lodge, 12481 Baseline Road.

Family night specials will be served in the lodge dining room, starting at 6 p.m. Members and guests are encouraged to have dinner together.

Bunco will be played and refreshments served. Members, their spouses and guests are welcome.

La Verne Lions

Dave Martin, area manager of Southern California Edison Co., will present a program entitled "The Atom — A Closer Look" at the La Verne Lions breakfast meeting Tuesday.

Jon Blickenstaff, chairman of the Lions fireworks sale, said the club's booth will be located at Foothill Boulevard and White Avenue June 30 - July 4.

City Manager Perry Beck addressed the Lions at the June 9 meeting on city redevelopment. As the main spokesman, Gayle Carr, city redevelopment consultant, discussed the study to date, according to D. E. Stitzel, publicity chairman.

Free poetry workshop

The Diamond Bar Library will sponsor a free poetry workshop with films on June 30 at 3 p.m. for children ages 5-15. The original poems on our city or an area of Los Angeles County produced by the workshop will then be submitted to the "Bicentennial Poet Tree" sponsored by the National League of American Pen Women.

The poems will be placed at the annual open house at the Hollywood Bowl Tuesdays and Thursdays 9:30 - noon, July 14 through Aug. 13. This event is free and children do not have to attend to participate. The National League of American Pen Women will informally judge the entries and prizes will be awarded.

All entries must be turned in by Aug. 1. For more information and rules contact the Diamond Bar Library, a branch of the Los Angeles County Public Library System, which is located at 1061 S. Grand Ave., Diamond Bar.

Dog obedience class

A ten week course in dog obedience is being offered by the Claremont Human Services Department on Saturday mornings from 8 - 9:30 a.m. at Memorial Park.

The beginning date is Saturday. Dog obedience taches all basic commands both on and off leash. Verbal and sight commands are utilized throughout the course. Tolerance of other dogs and people will also be stressed.

Pre-registration is required. For further information please call 624-4531, extension 280.

Grant awarded for recycling program

The state Solid Waste Management Board recently awarded a $52,000 grant to San Bernardino County to develop a recycling program for Chino Hills.

Some 18,000 acres in the Chino Hills are subject to a specific plan under way to guide future development of the community.

Supervisor Robert Townsend, whose district includes Chino Hills, said, "This grant will help assure that Chino Hills is a conservation-minded community from the start."

Noting that the recycling grant was the only study proposal approved by the state board this year, he added, "The state board's action recognizes the exciting energy and resource conservation opportunities provided by planning an entire new community in the Chino Hills."

D.B. library program

Are you looking for something to do this summer? Come to the Diamond Bar Library and become an operator of the "Amazing Reading Machine."

Read one book, and then you will be given your very own Operator's Folder where you can record all the books you read during your trips.

The "Amazing Reading Machine" will take you on a trip every Thursday at 3 p.m. starting June 25. Some of the programs are The Library Strikes Back, Dragon Olympics, and The Puppet Show.

A special attraction will be a serial story every Wednesday at 1 p.m. beginning July 1 with Superfudge by Judy Blume. Films will be shown every Saturday with preschool films at 11 a.m. and elementary and junior high films at 2 p.m. In addition there will be our regular storytimes for preschools on Wednesday and Saturday at 10:30 a.m.

The Diamond Bar Library, a branch of the Los Angeles County Library System, is located at 1061 S. Grand Ave., Diamond Bar. For further information call (714) 595-7418.

County wins awards

San Bernardino County recently won 1981 achievement awards for 20 of its 27 projects submitted to the National Association of Counties.

The county Public Information Office won two additional awards in competition sponsored by the National Association of County Information Officers.

Bob Hammock, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, said the county has consistently received national recognition for innovative programs.

The achievement this year "is especially important because it represents not only our county employees' dedication to better and more efficient services to our citizens, but it demonstrates their ingenuity for developing programs that can deliver services at a minimum of cost to the taxpayer," Hammock said.

Del Norte PTA installs

The Del Norte Parent-Teachers Association installed officers for the 1981-1982 school year at a brunch meeting last week.

Incoming officers include: Eileen Rigler, president; Arlene Rodgers, first vice president; Carlene Pacillas, second vice president; Ramona Piceno, recording secretary; Ofelia Fernandez, treasurer; May Figueroa, historian; Mary Horvath, auditor; Marciala Velasquez, corresponding secretary; and Mary Kay Steel, parliamentarian.

Ethel Ward, past president of the Ontario-Montclair PTA Council, was installing officer.

Nurse assistant training

Pomona Adult School will offer its first eight-week intensive summer program for nurse assistant training this year, July 1 - Aug. 28.

Upon completion of the course, the student will be eligible for state certification as a certified nurse assistant to work in a convalescent facility, officials state.

Classes will be held at Pomona Valley Community Hospital, and Palomares Center, Monday through Friday, from 8 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Registration is now open for the summer session at the adult school, 180 E. Mission Blvd., Pomona. Class size is limited, so early registration is advised.

Additional information may be obtained by calling 629-2551, extension 244, Monday through Thursday from 8 a.m. to 7:30 p.m., or Friday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Junior women's club win awards

Receiving awards at the annual state convention in Sacramento recently were president Darlene Edwards and first vice president Valena Wright at the Montclair-Ontario Junior Women's Club.

For their support of the West end Symphony, a table decoration in the L.A. County Fair, a puppet and dance recital viewed by 1,110 people, the Juniors received a third place award.

In the area of home life the Juniors received a second. The service in this area includes Santa Claus Inc., Friends Outside, senior citizens, youth groups and needy families. An overall award in Build A Better Community was given to the local club. This department is sponsored by Bank of America, and monetary awards were also give at this time.

Summer plans have been made by Juniors. On Saturday the Juniors will be sponsoring a book and bake sale for the Montclair Library. The sale will be held in front of Mayfair Market, Montclair, from 9 a.m. - 2 p.m. On June 23 the Juniors will be helping to kick-off the library's reading program and will be serving ice cream to the children attending that day from 2-3 p.m. On June 25 the Juniors will be sponsoring a dance recital, "On the Radio", at Fontana High School beginning at 7 p.m Carol Lynn's Dance studio will provide the dancers for the program.

Juniors is open to women between the ages of 18-35 who are interested in their community. For more information call Darlene Edwards, 626-1555.

Huck Finn Jubilee rings from Pelican Lake shores

Banjos, coonskin caps and bluegrass and Blue Ridge Mountain music will be the order of the day during Huck Finn's Jubilee June 20-21 on the shores of Pelican Lake at Mojave Narrows Regional Park, south of Victorville.

The fourth annual Huck Finn Jubilee will be held Father's Day weekend — June 20 and 21 — at Mojave Narrows Regional Park in Victorville.

The Mississippi-style celebration molded from the days of Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn features musical entertainment and contests for the entire family.

Seven bluegrass, country and American Folk groups will provide continuous entertainment for Jubilee visitors, including Damascus Road, The Tyners and Train 45, Yankee Bluegrass, Pacific...ly Bluegrass and Julie Wingfield.

Also appearing will be Old Mother Logo, an all-woman string band that highlights traditional American folk entertainment with songs and dance from the Appalachian and Blue Ridge Mountains.

Family oriented contests will include fence painting championships, river raft building, wheelbarrow racing, raw egg tossing and greased pole climbing. There will also be hot air balloon rides.

The event will take place along the shores of the park's Pelican Lake surrounded by camping and picnicking areas.

Jubilee visitors may camp for the weekend in a special festival camping area. To reach the park, take Intersta Interstate 15 to the Bear Valley Road cutoff (five miles south of Victorville), then go east four miles to Ridgecrest Avenue and north three miles to the park entrance.

For more information, contact Don V. Tucker at 888-6078. There is a charge for the event.

Claremont plans July 4th parade

By VONNE ROBERTSON
Staff Writer

"America, Everyone's Land" will be the theme for Claremont's annual Independence Day Celebration on July 4.

Jerry Tambe has been named general chairman for the day-long event which includes food and games in Memorial Park, a parade down Indian Hill Boulevard and entertainment and a fireworks display in the evening.

Cosanya Thomas, a student at El Roble Junior High School, was the winner of this year's theme contest. She will receive a trophy and ride in the parade.

The 4 p.m. parade will run from 12th Street to Harrison Avenue this year, a shorter route than in the past.

The Claremont City Council recently adopted a parade ordinance. This year, new parade guidelines have been approved. Applications for entries are available from the Human Services Department. These forms must be completely filled out and returned to the department office in Memorial Park no later than June 26.

Former Rep. Jerry Voorhis of Claremont will serve as grand marshal of the parade. Honored citizens to be recognized during the parade are Joseph Platt, founding president of Harvey Mudd College who retired this year as president of Claremont University Center, and Janet Phares, member of the Traffic Commission and active community leader.

Starting at 10 a.m., booths will offer games and food and information on a wide range of subjects at Memorial Park. Non-profit organizations wishing to sponsor food or game consessions may obtain applications at the Human Services Department office, 840 N. Indian Hill Blvd.

The evening program will begin at 6:30 p.m. on the Pomona College Alumni Field on Sixth Street.

Musical entertaiment will precede fireworks displays set for dusk.

Tickets, at $1 for children and $2 for adults, may be purchased at the Human Services Department or at the Claremont Chamber of Commerce, 630 S. Indian Hill Blvd

Preservation Hall Jazz Band of New Orleans, La.

New Orleans musicians

Famed jazz band to play S.B. date

The Preservation Hall Jazz Band, a group of New Orleans musicians who have traveled the world playing the famous music they created decades ago, will appear in concert in San Bernardino this month.

The concert, sponsored by San Bernardino Civic Light Opera as a special event, will be held on Tuesday, June 30, at the California Theatre of Performing Arts, 562 W. Fourth St., San Bernardino, Curtain time is 8:15 p.m.

Now in their 60s, 70s, and 80s, the band members, who have been playing to sold-out houses during their cross-country concert tour, still play with the spirit and joy that is symbolic of New Orleans jazz.

Preservation Hall in New Orleans originally was a place where the musicians could get together to play mostly for their own pleasure. Now, people from all over the world pack the benches each night to hear jazz as it was played when it was created.

The Preservation Hall Jazz Band is unique, inasmuch as they follow no set program during their concerts, according to C. Dale Jenks, Civic Light Opera general manager. "The musicians themselves don't know what they'll play, beyond perhaps the opening and closing numbers," said Jenks. "What they play is determined in large by the audience."

"The music they play is simple in technical terms, but complex in performance," he added. "Because they improvise as they go along, each concert is an original that will never be re-constructed in exactly the same way."

Tickets for the one-night concert may be purchased at the Civic Light Opera Ticket Office, 2079 N. E. St., San Bernardino. Tickets may also be ordered by phoning 882-2545 or (714) 825-9452.

Mainly for Seniors

Oldsters can help selves many ways

By JOHN T. WATTS
Copley News Service

Dear John: One of my main efforts in this life is to attempt to better things for the retired, among others.

However, because of my experience, I know that there is no one who can help the seniors (or any adult) better than they, themselves. There is no need to lead a dull, lonely existence with only boredom to look forward to in the future. The person merely needs to have the desire and persist in applying oneself toward a life of service where it is most needed and can do the most good.

One need not be in perfect health, since I am disabled and dependent on the assistance of others. One need not be highly educated, since my formal education is that of merely a high school graduate. One need not be a person of public reputation or importance, nor one who is set financially, for I am neither. I am a 56-year-old housewife and a disabled Navy veteran, who remembered my high school government teachings. (That the public is a valid part of our government and has the right to a say in it.)

I suddenly realized that I wasn't happy with the way the government was operating. And I decided that since I was a part of this government that I had an obligation to try changing things for the better.

Over the past five years my efforts have been exerted at council meetings with fantastic results. Through encouraging the involvement of many others, seniors who provided dedicated help, it proved a very fruitful experience.

One needs to be an avid reader of the daily papers, staying current on the happenings in Washington, at the state Capitol and at city hall. Then, through contributing "Letters to the Editor," letters mailed to the various governmental officials and through having your say at council meetings, it is possible to wield strong power and influence those who make our laws.

In fact, governmental officials, who have the public's best interest at heart, welcome and value this public input and base their actions and votes on the sentiments of their constituency.

This can be a very fulfilling and worthwhile activity in which to involve one's self. I guarantee you will never have idle time on your hands or feel useless unless it is your desire to do so. People will seek you out for help and advice and will encourage you regularly through their thanks and approval.

My book, "How to Fight City Hall — Any City U.S.A." is, actually, the citizen's role in their government and could be applied to anyone in any city. It is easily understood, instructive and interesting reading.

The reason I am writing to you is that many elderly people could gain a new lease on life and become active and interested individuals who would look forward to each new tomorrow with eager anticipation.

Through our efforts and God's blessings, we succeeded in getting plans for a bridge moved from one street to another against the wishes of the administration, convinced the public to vote approval of fire and police levies against the wishes of city hall, became elected to a charter commission, then campaigned successfully against the passage of this poorly constructed and expensive charter. — Fran Metcalf.

Bridge group gives $650

The Highlander Women's Bridge Group has donated $650 to the Upland Public Library for the purchase of books.

The books will be selected for school-aged children and will be appropriate for school assignments. Many new purchases also will be made for the library's reference section.

The bridge players donate their bridge winnings for the purpose of supporting the local schools. Valencia Elementary School and Upland High School, both in Upland, have received past donations.

Unusual plan reduces home cost for some

By BOB NAGEY
Staff Writer

In a move unique to the valley, 12 dilapidated houses in Chino will soon be moved to new locations, refurbished, and resold as duplex condominiums to families with low and moderate incomes.

The houses have to be relocated from their present site at Central and Washington avenues to make way for a new Security Pacific Bank building and the bank has agreed to donate the houses to the city if they are moved from the premises.

Harry Weinroth, director of community development, disclosed that two non-profit corporations have made an offer to find and buy suitable lots, relocate the buildings there and fix them up for sale at no cost to the city.

Weinroth said the developers, the Future Builders of America and the Los Angeles Community Design Center, have agreed to sell the units for $63,000 apiece or less to families whose incomes do not exceed $28,700.

The proposal was outlined to the Chino City Council, acting as the city's redevelopment agency, and it elicited favorable reaction from most of the members.

Eileen Carter, chairman of the agency, said the project appeared to be "a good one. I would not like to lose this opportunity to provide affordable housing at no expense to the city."

Director Ben Burrell added that the project was "better than getting the city involved in the housing business."

Director Rafael Kenealy said he favored the project providing that the release of the buildings to the developers did not constitute a gift of public property.

And Mayor Larry Walker said he wanted to make sure one of the buildings would be left on the site as long as possible to provide a temporary home for the Chino YMCA. The YMCA is looking for its first home in Chino and has voiced its desire to use one of the 12 buildings, if possible.

Only director Fred Aguiar appeared reluctant to act. At his request for more time to study the proposal, the agency held off action for two weeks and instructed its staff in the interim to prepare the necessary papers for signing the agreement.

Weinroth said the city originally was going to do its own rehabilitation.

He said the city was going to appropriate a total of $480,500 to buy new lots, fix up the houses and sell them. However, he said the search for new locations had not met with much success.

However, James R. Bonar, executive director of the Design Center, said his group has located several lots near Riverside Drive that would be suitable for duplexes.

He said the Design Center would place two houses on each lot to cut the cost of land and reduce the price of the units. All the buildings would be re-roofed, re-wired, re-carpeted, landscaped, furnished with solar-assisted water heating systems, insulated and remodeled.

A restriction would assure that houses be sold only to low- and moderate-income families.

Carl J. Hanson, president of the Future Builders, said some$700,000 for the project would come from an $8.3 million San Bernardino County Housing Bond Issue, aproved by the Board of Supervisors last December. He said the two corporations already are fixing up old houses in Fontana, Rialto and Los Serranos.

Weinroth told the agency that the project would enable the city to widen sections of Central and Washington avenues. In addition to removing a blight from the business area, he said the relocated houses also would improve the appearance of other locations where trash and weeds litter unimproved lots.

Tips for painting driveway

By GENE GARY
Copley News Service

Q. We have, I believe, successfully filled some cracks in our concrete driveway with cement and glue. Now we would like to paint it. Can you recommend the paint to use, how to put it on, spray or brush, and how lasting will it be? Will watch for your answer. — Mrs. F.R.P., San Marcos, Calif.

A driveway will need repainting more often than other surfaces because of the constant traffic. The many alkali-resistant paints on the market today, together with special brushes and rollers for masonry surfaces, have made painting masonry a relatively simple matter

First, be sure the surface is thoroughly cleaned. Wash away oil and grease. Remove dirt and other materials with a wire brush.

If there is a white salt-like material adhering to concrete, it is probably efflorescence, caused by moisture which dissolves salts in the interior of alkaline materials and carries them to the surface. Efflorescence must be removed before painting. Do not wet the surface or more crystals may appear.

Solvent-thinned, rubber-base paints are ideal for painting concrete surfaces exposed to weather, including swimming pools. They provide excellent resistance to alkali and water penetration and resist abrasion.

After an alkali-resistant primer has been applied, a finish coat would be used to resist exposure. Two finish coast are more satisfactory than a one-coat finish.

For best results, always choose a quality paint and use a special masonry brush or roller. As for spraying, I would check with the dealer to make sure whether the paint you buy is suitable for spraying. I would prefer the roller application myself.

Q. We have Spanish tile in our entry as well as on our double-sided fireplace hearths. It has wide (one-and one-fourth inches) gray grout joints and I hate it.

Is there any way the grout can be stained to blend more harmoniously with the reddish warmth of the tile? Or could we tile over the existing tile on the hearths with a ceramic type of Spanish tile? — Mrs. D.G.M., Fallbrook, Calif.

A. I know of now way of staining the grout to a satisfactory matching blend.

If color is to be added, use only limeproof cement color sold by dealers in masonry materials. To determine amount of color needed for your particular purpose.

So it will grow

Encourage the church 'habit'

By Rev. M.H. Saeger
Montclair Ministerial Association

"When I was just 6 years old, my dad bought me a small set of golf clubs and showed me how to play and enjoy golf!" I'm told this was stated by one of the premier golfers on the tour. It is possible that most of the athletes, or engineers, or bookkeepers, or truck drivers, or whatever, were encouraged into their profession by an adult. Probably it was a parent or someone else that the child looked up to, but in some way, that child was encouraged to get into his present vocation by one who took an interest in him. Not only was an interest shown, but it was made to be something enjoyed; something to look forward to; and the effort was put forth.

In the same way, mom and dad, I am confident that if you show an interest in God, in church, in your spiritual life and enjoy doing it, enjoy participating in the church, your child or children will enjoy it also and it will be part of their daily life, a very important part.

If so many other things are important, sports etc.; why neglect that which is essential? Children need to "get into the habit" of attending church, Sunday school, youth meetings; this should be part of their upbringing. Maybe it is grandma or grandpa, or an aunt or uncle, or maybe a friend; but whoever, if we have the chance, let's see what we can do to encourage others to enjoy church life, like we do. It is those who are sure of their salvation, who know where and how they are going to spend eternity, that have real and true peace of mind and happiness.

I would like to encourage and invite all who read this article, to make the time, or take the time, to be in the church of your choice each week. To enjoy your spiritual life and associations, to encourage others to go with you, and to be a part of their getting to know God more intimately and personally!

God tells us "Thou shalt have no other gods before me." How about that? Have you thought about that lately?

Rev. Saeger is minister at Trinity Lutheran Church in Montclair.

La Verne pastor leaves church

Leland Wilson, senior minister at the La Verne Church of the Brethren and past president of the Pomona Valley Council of Churches and the Southern California Council of Churches, was honored Sunday for his 12 years of service to the La Verne church.

Wilson, who has resigned as local pastor to accept the position of senior minister at the First Church of the Brethren in York, Pa., delivered his final sermon at the church Sunday during the 10:30 a.m. service. Following the service, a luncheon ceremony was held in the Fellowship Hall.

The morning service featured the three youth choirs, Rainbow, Music Makers and Sunrise.

Wilson came to La Verne in 1969 from Elgin, Ill., where for eight years he had been director of the Department of Interpretation in the denomination's general offices.

During his ministry at La Verne, Wilson served as president of the Pomona Valley Council of Churches from 1974 to 1976, organizing and directing the first annual "Walk for the Hungry" in 1974.

He also served as president of the Southern California Council of Churches from 1979 to 1981 and promoted international reconciliation through the Pomona Valley Council for Peace. Wilson has been chairman for the American Committee for the World Friendship Center in Japan. He visited the center in 1971 and 1980.

During his administration, Wilson gave leadership to the National Evangelism Conference and helped to arrange foreign student exchanges and to sponsor work camps in Mexico. He served as president of the La Verne Rotary Club and was a keyorganizer in the annual Pomona Valley High School All-Star Basketball Game.

At the La Verne church, where a 1980 study revealed that over half of the present membership joined during Wilson's 12 years of ministry, church facilities have been improved, funds raised for the organ repair, the old mortgage burned and the church budget increased by 113 percent.

Wilson has written four books in the past four years: "Living With Wonder," "Silver City," "The Will Rogers Touch" and "The Mission Factor."

Wilson and wife Pat have five children: Gary of Hoboken, N. J.; Bruce of Brea; Anne of La Verne; Mike Waters of Pomona; and Mark Waters of La Verne.

He and his wife will move to Pennsylvania later this summer. He will become senior minister of his new church on Aug. 1.

Pastor of North Hills to attend weekend school

The Rev. Calvin Thomsen is attending LEAD Consultants Laboratory School on Parish Visitation Skills this weekend. Thomsen is pastor of North Hills Seventh-day Adventist church in Claremont and lives with his wife Marilyn in La Verne.

The school, held in Glendale, will be directed by Dr. John S. Savage, president of LEAD Consultants. His original research with the "Apathetic and Bored Church Member" stimulated interest in this area of ministry. He is a certified psychotherapist and minister of music and education, as well as a United Methodist church pastor. He also acts as consultant to many organizations, working with educational designing, problem solving, conflict management, team teaching, and research.

According to Thomsen, the lab is designed to train for effective visitation to inactive church members. The lab endeavors to teach how to note early signs of dropping away, how to become a sensitive, astute observer and listener, to develop self - confidence in calling on another, and how to listen to the pain of another.

A Disciples of Christ research on the lab disclosed an average return rate of 42 percent for church members visited.

Rev. Calvin Thomsen

Dr. Savage's own congregation experienced a 60 percent return, while a Lutheran congregation in Cleveland showed an 86 percent return.

Let's talk

Avoid falling into danger of servile habits

By REV. LEE TRUMAN
Copley News Service

George had a master's degree in Business Administration but one item about life he never understood. It is this. We come to believe in what we do. This is because the way we act is the way we learn to feel, and this is then the way we behave.

Let me explain. If we kneel each time the king comes by we begin to feel in time that we are saluting a person ruling by divine right. If we are taught to discriminate against people of another color or race, we in time come to feel that we are better than they are.

History teaches that whole populations have been kept under a tyrant's heel by their being made to observe this ritual of bowing their head and bending their knee. After this comes the curious rationale that when the commissioned officer is shown to be an incompetent fool, the soldier says, "I do not salute the man, but the uniform." Or as the Japanese say, "I do not honor the person, but his many years." All this is so illogical that it defies reason, but it is still very human, it is custom and we come to believe in what we do.

If you act in a servile manner, you will begin to think as a servant, and what may be worse you can easily slide into the attitude of accepting this as your life pattern. You can just as easily invent reasons to justify others' superiority. If you act like you believe in yourself, then what you do will take you to success.

It is our attitudes which are the hard-core of our mental life. These are the habits that sit in the driver's seat, and they form all the other habit patterns of our lives. When we can handle these basic attitudes we are in control of our life.

George's breakthrough came when I told him the story of Joe Carson. Joe was an outstanding golfer, with perfect form. Joe felt so inferior when he played with what he considered some of the big-name golfers, it cost him six to nine strokes in 18 holes.

The difference in his game was his attitude which said, "Who am I to be playing golf with these good golfers?" He saw himself as being inferior to them and played in such a way to prove his attitude.

Joe came from the wrong side of the tracks, and began caddying at an early age. Pretty soon, with the help of the pros, and a great deal of practice he was good enough to golf with the best. His problem was that every time he entered into tournament competition, he was so sure that he was the ragged, dirty kid on the other side of the tracks, that he could see himself only in second place.

George could understand what was wrong with Joe's game because he played golf. When I could get George to apply this to his business life he began to move up the ladder of success. He began to believe in himself. He saw himself as he was, and what he could be. It works just about the same in all areas of our life.

Church to hold Bible school

MSAC students honored

Twenty-five Mt. San Antonio College students were named to the highest honor the college awards its students. Students are nominated by their instructors and must have at least a 2.5 grade point average (4.0 scale), have sophomore standing, have leadership abilities, and have contributed to the college and their communities.

This year, for the first time since the award was initiated in 1960, the selection committee amended the format, and did not name a top woman or man of the year. All 25 were honored as the top students of the year.

Students of Distinction are: Reginald Ausmus III, Pomona, journalism major; Bertha Beteta, La Puente, business accounting; Denise Blankenship, Covina, liberal arts; Scott Boberg, San Dimas, English; Valarie Burdick, San Dimas, urban planning; Roseann Champion, West Covina, registered nursing; Deuck Choi, Hacienda Heights, business management; Kyle Daniels, West Covina, drafting; Mathew Ebiner, West Covina, geology; Arlene Hart, Covina, international relations; Deborah Haynes, Pomona, registered nursing; Marc Hernandez, Covina, business administration; Kristen Keller, Diamond Bar, livestock production, Kara Kneedy, West Covina, psychology; Patricia Macias, Upland, mental health technology; James Manzanares, La Verne, business administration; Eugene Marquez, La Puente, mental health technology; Victoria Massas, West Covina, home economics; Joe Muncie, San Dimas, psychology; Patricia Myers, Hacienda Heights, political science; Juan Neucke, Diamond Bar, business administration; David Price, Walnut, liberal arts; and Marianne Vitello, Covina, registered nursing.

Ausmus was also named the Gerald V. Deal recipient for outstanding citizenship, personal growth, and leadership potential.

Budget to be discussed

The Chino Unified School District's tentative budget will be brought before the Board of Education on Thursday during its 7 p.m. meeting at 5130 Riverside Drive, Chino.

Originally slated for June 23, the Chino Board of Education recently approved a rescheduling of regular meeting dates to allow the District additional time for the completion of budget information required for submittal before June 30 to the San Bernardino County Superintendent of Schools.

This tentative budget submission is necessary if the district is to continue conducting business after the beginning of its new fiscal year July 1.

According to H. C. Tanner, assistant superintendent of business services, the tentative budget will be the first of three formal budgets filed with the county superintendent's office.

The District expects only minor dollar changes to take place with each submittal. The second budget submittal will be the publication budget to be published July 31.

The board will hold a public hearing on Aug. 4 before final budget adoption.

MSAC staff graduate

Two members of the SAC Book Rac staff at Mt. San Antonio College were honored recently by receiving certificates of graduation from a three-year management seminar held at Stanford University.

Joyce Jones, Walnut, and Kathe Blum, Pomona, took a series of classes dealing in detail with the various aspects of running a college bookstore.

The seminar, which is sponsored by the National Association of College Stores, is also designed to train in areas that are unique to college bookstores such as textbook sales and buy-backs Bette Lutes.

Jones, who has been with the bookstore for nearly seven years, is currently the supply manager and Blum, who has been employed for nearly 11 years, is the store's general book buyer.

Summer sessions at Azusa Pacific

Azusa Pacific University will offer two on-campus summer sessions with classes ranging from data processing to psychology of the exceptional child. Summer Session I will be held June 15-July 10, and Summer Session II, July 13-August 6.

Students may register for summer sessions on the following dates: Summer Session I — June 11-12, 15-16; Summer Session II — June 10, 13, 14. Students may not register for courses after June 16 for the first session and July 14 for the second.

Both summer sessions offer a variety of courses in business administration, communication arts, education, nursing (open only to those formally enrolled in APU's program), philosophy and religion, social science, physical education, science and mathematics.

Christian day camp

The Diamond Bar Friends Christian School will sponsor a day camp June 22-Aug. 28 for children 4 to 11 years of age.

Cost is $38 per week and includes outings and admission fees, but not extended day care. Campers may enroll for one or 10 weeks.

The address of the school is 1201 Brea Canyon Road, Walnut.

The new school year, for children in kindergarten through fourth grade, starts Sept. 8. Extended day care will be available from 7-9 a.m. to 4-6 p.m.

Additional information may be obtained by calling 594-4509.

The Brass Ring; not just horsing around

Physical therapy doesn't have to be laborious, boring and confined to a sterile room — not if you go for The Brass Ring.

The Brass Ring is a group of volunteers who, since 1966, have been using their free time to teach the handicapped to ride horses.

"We've been trying to use it as a therapy thing but it's completely away from the clinical aspect. These kids are benefiting from it but having fun at the same time," Pat Morris, a Brass Ring volunteer, said.

The group meets Sunday afternoons (except holidays) at Paul and Donna Hughes' Jubilee Ranch in South Ontario. Because many suffer from afflictions like blindness and cerebral palsy, it may be their one and only chance to ride.

Riders have to have their doctors' authorization to make sure riding won't worsen their conditions but they needn't be children. "Age means nothing," Pat said. She said they've taught riders varying in age from "3 to 99."

Originally, the ranch was called the Carrousel. The Brass Ring was named in honor of a free ride — and that's just what it is. No rider is charged for the services. Volunteers depend on private donations to keep the program alive.

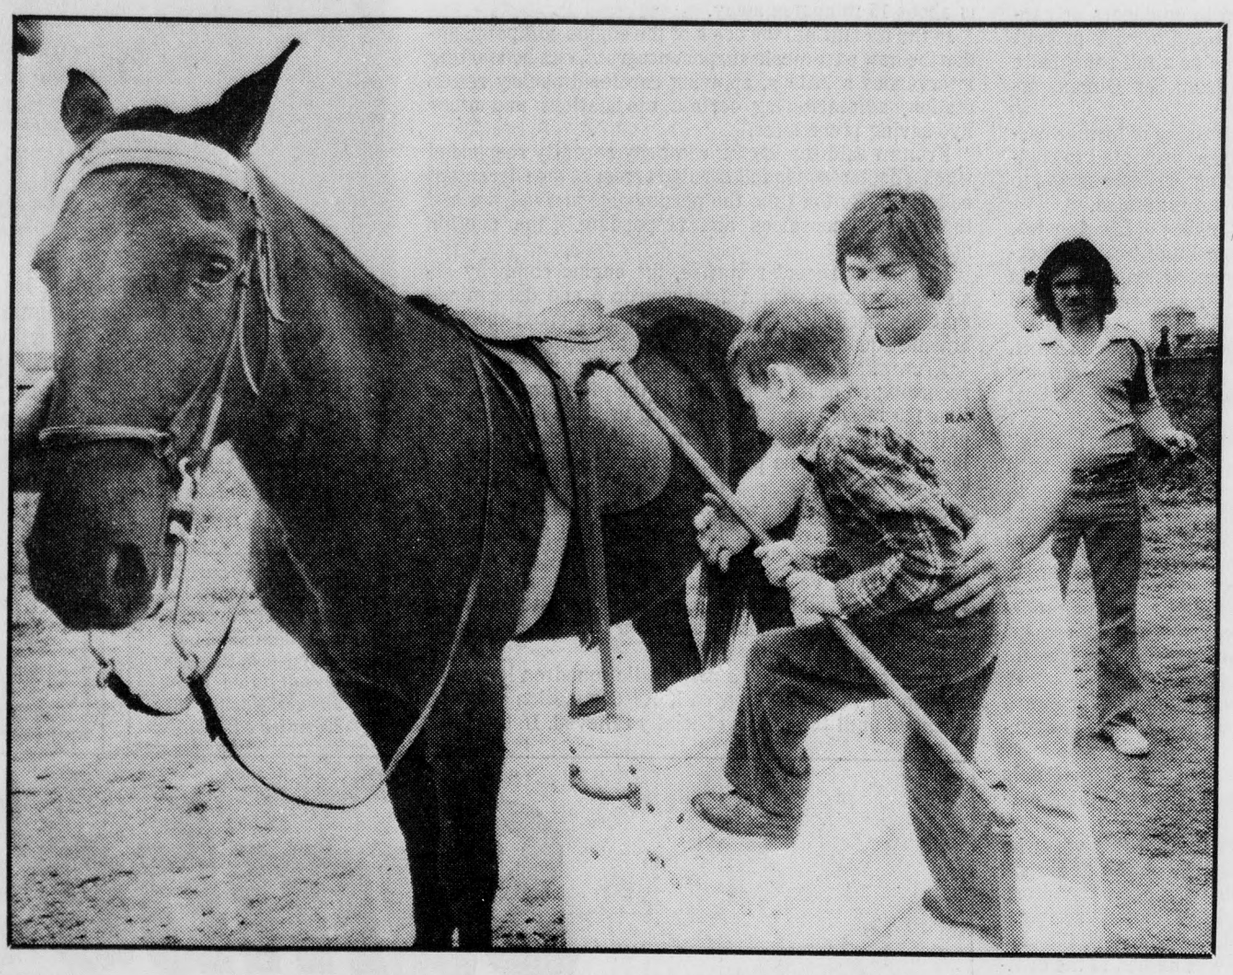

"These people think they can't do anything but they have to do something to get on a horse," Pat said. Riding horses is an incentive for them and once they're on horseback they have to exercise their muscles to stay on.

"They have to use muscles that won't normally be used in a wheelchair.," she said.

Riders who can use their legs are required to mount the animals by themselves but those who need help getting and staying on get the help they need.

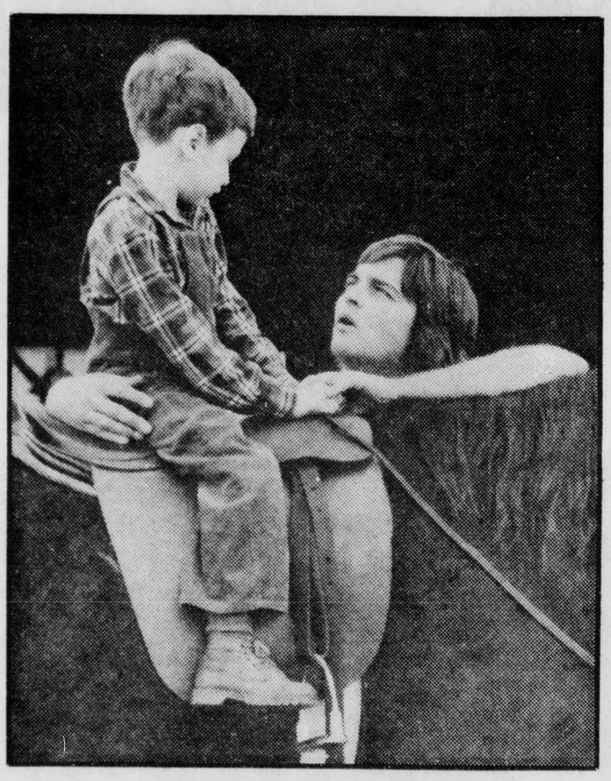

The program is rapidly growing in popularity. "It started out with just four or five people but now we have 28 or 30," Pat said.

People interested in the program can find out more by calling (213) 698-4164.

Paramedic training program tested by Claremont firemen

By VONNE ROBERTSON
Staff Writer

Claremont Fire Station 101, staffed by Los Angeles County firefighters, is participating in a pilot program designed to improve emergency medical services in the city.

The eight-months program started this spring. It is one of four being conducted in the county. Others are at Lawndale, Topanga Canyon and East Los Angeles.

The program will determine the value of using paramedics who have been promoted to engineers or captains as assessment crews. They would provide prompt emergency services until such time as a full paramedic squad (in this case, Squadron 64 from San Dimas) arrives.

This project uses the extensive training of former paramedics in the county who have been promoted to engineers or captains to start live-saving procedures and to determine if a full paramedic squad is needed.

For more than five years, Bob Cinader of Los Angeles, Supervisor Pete Schabarums's appointee to the Emergency Medical Services Commission, attempted to gain acceptance of this concept for better use of men trained as paramedics.

Capt. Roland Krumm of Station 101 and Martin Scott, a paramedic-engineer, said the program has already proved of value in providing prompt, life-saving medical care in the community.

According to Schabarum, "bureaucratic inertia" stalled Cinader's efforts to develop the program until last March.

Cinader said, "We have 200 paramedics, each with at least 1,000 hours of training who were no longer allowed to serve as paramedics once they were promoted.

"In the past, promoted paramedics lost their certification and were unable to render certain live-saving procedures due to a county Health Department requirement that they had to serve on a paramedic squad a specific number of hours per month.

"This became impossible when the firefighters were promoted and received other assignments," he explained.

Cinader is highly critical of the county health officials who, he said, "were dragging their feet and giving paramedic problems a low priority."

Cinader became involved with paramedics when he produced the "Emergency" television programs for six years. Each weekend, he rode with paramedic squadrons to study their situations for use in developing scripts.

While he had great interest in the paramedics, Cinader had no official capacity unitil he was named to the commission in 1975.

Although Cinader still writes and produces televison programs, he no longer produces "Emergency." But many firefighters know him personally, either through the department or as former cast members.

In the meantime, Schabarum reported that Cinader has become one of the county's leading spokesman for emergency medical services.

Cinader said there are between 80,000 and 100,000 calls a year for rescues in the county. Of these, he said, 75 percent do not really need the services of paramedics.

If an engine company can be first at the scene and determine that a full paramedic unit is not needed, this relieves the squadron to be available where a life might be saved.

Krumm reported that Claremont's Station 101 on Second Street responds to three or four calls a day, 75 percent of which are rescue calls. "Of these calls, 75 to 80 percent do not really require the paramedics."

According to Krumm and Cinader, the number of rescue calls which are not urgent vary in different districts and socio-economic areas of the county.

"In poorer areas of the county, the percentage of non-emergency calls is the highest," Krumm added. "Claremont is about average."

According to Krumm, the response time for the Claremont engine company is just a matter of a few minutes. If the paramedics from Station 64 are required, the response time is from six to eight minutes. Should other paramedics be required, the next squadron in Glendora is about 15 minuates away.

In the meantime, the crew of the engine company, under the new paramedic support program, can be starting intervenous solutions, applying cardiopulmonary resusciation, administering certain medications and other live-saving procedures.

Krumm said the engine company recently responded when a doctor was in full cardiac arrest at the Claremont colleges. "By the time the paramedics arrived, we had the patient conscious and responding," the captain noted.

In another recent response, the engine company assisted a woman with a drug overdose and determined that she needed hospitalization. They alerted the paramedic squadron and an ambulance.

Krumm said the Claremont engine company is tape-recording all of its responses for the pilot program. Station 120 in Diamond Bar is being used as the "control unit" for the project in Claremont since it serves a similar area but has no paramedics assigned to its engine company.

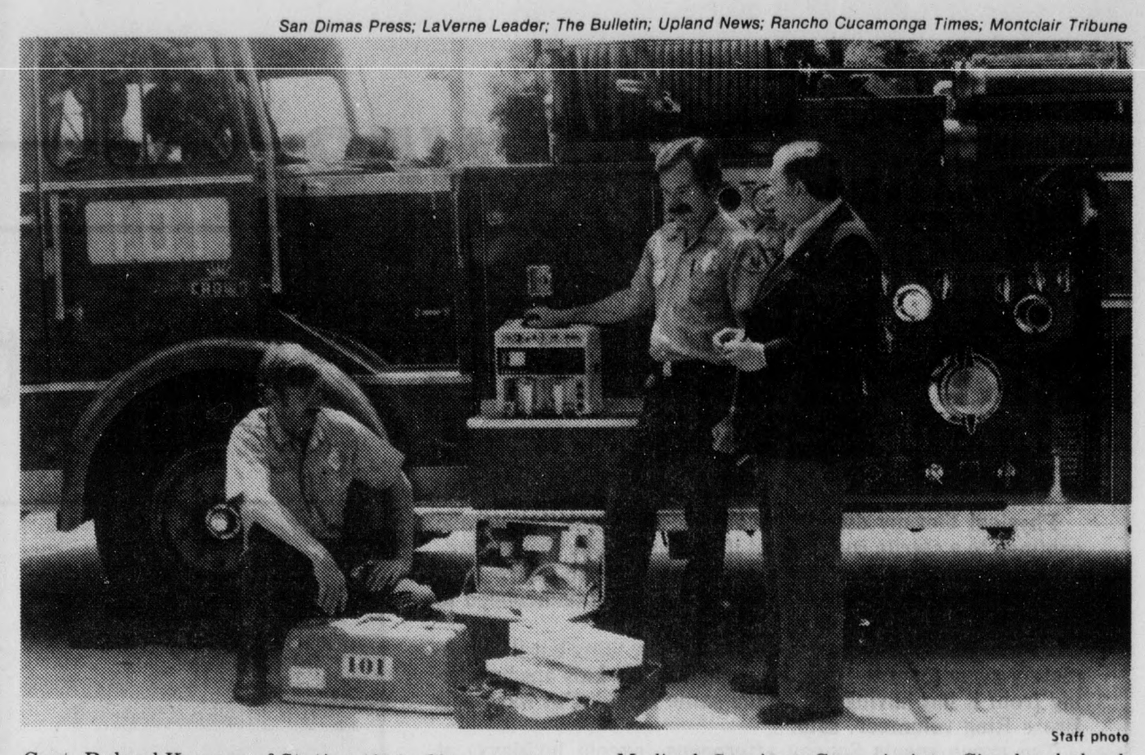

Scott, a paramedic with 8 year's experience in the Valinda area, was promoted to engineer last year but still retains his paramedic rating.

"I think we've already proven the value of the program," Scott added. "We can provide faster medical services in the community and, as a result, increase the survival rate."

He continued, "Once a paramedic squadron leaves its station in response to a call, its destination can't be changed until the unit is officially relieved. In the event of a more serious emergency, it may not be available to respond and a life could be lost."

Cinader feels that many fire department and health officials underestimate the value of the county paramedic program.

"In 5 or 10 years, we'll have men who entered the fire department as paramedics being advanced up the command structure to top administrative positions, such as chiefs, then we'll see a differenct concept of the medic's role," Cinader stated.

Economy Shop in Claremont offers bargains

The prices sound like a closeout sale at a general store in 1933.

Items include a table lamp priced at $8; men's shirts, $1; sports jackets, $5; ties, 50 cents; women's dresses, $2; electric iron, $4; grass cloth, 10 cents a foot; paperback books, 25 cents; a pair of aluminum crutches, $3.

The merchandise is used but in good condition. The prices are 1981. And the place is the Economy Shop in Claremont. With donated merchadise and volunteer clerks, the shop has minimum overhead.

Its proceeds aid individuals and other organizations dedicated to helping people. One of the recipients is Family Service of Pomona Valley which provides valley residents counseling on personal and family problems at a fraction of the real cost.

Other agencies assisted include the Claremont Red Cross Chapter, House of Ruth, Gateway House, the Claremont YMCA and the campership fund of the Claremont Coordinating Council.

Individuals in need are also assisted through Economy Shop funds, according to President Robert N. Troutman.

Started in 1929 as a clothing exchange for poor families, the Economy Shop is now open to everyone. At least a fifth of the customers are college students looking for cheap furniture, books, appliances, serviceable clothes or funky clothes for costumes. The shop is open Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in a tiny, immaculate building at 325 W. First St., Claremont.

The shop was a Claremont Community Church activity during its early years. But it incorporated in 1960 as a independent organization. A board of 10 directors, led by Troutman, sets its policies. About 50 volunteers take turns running the store.

Its operations net about $4,000 a year, all donated to support of the other agencies or individuals.

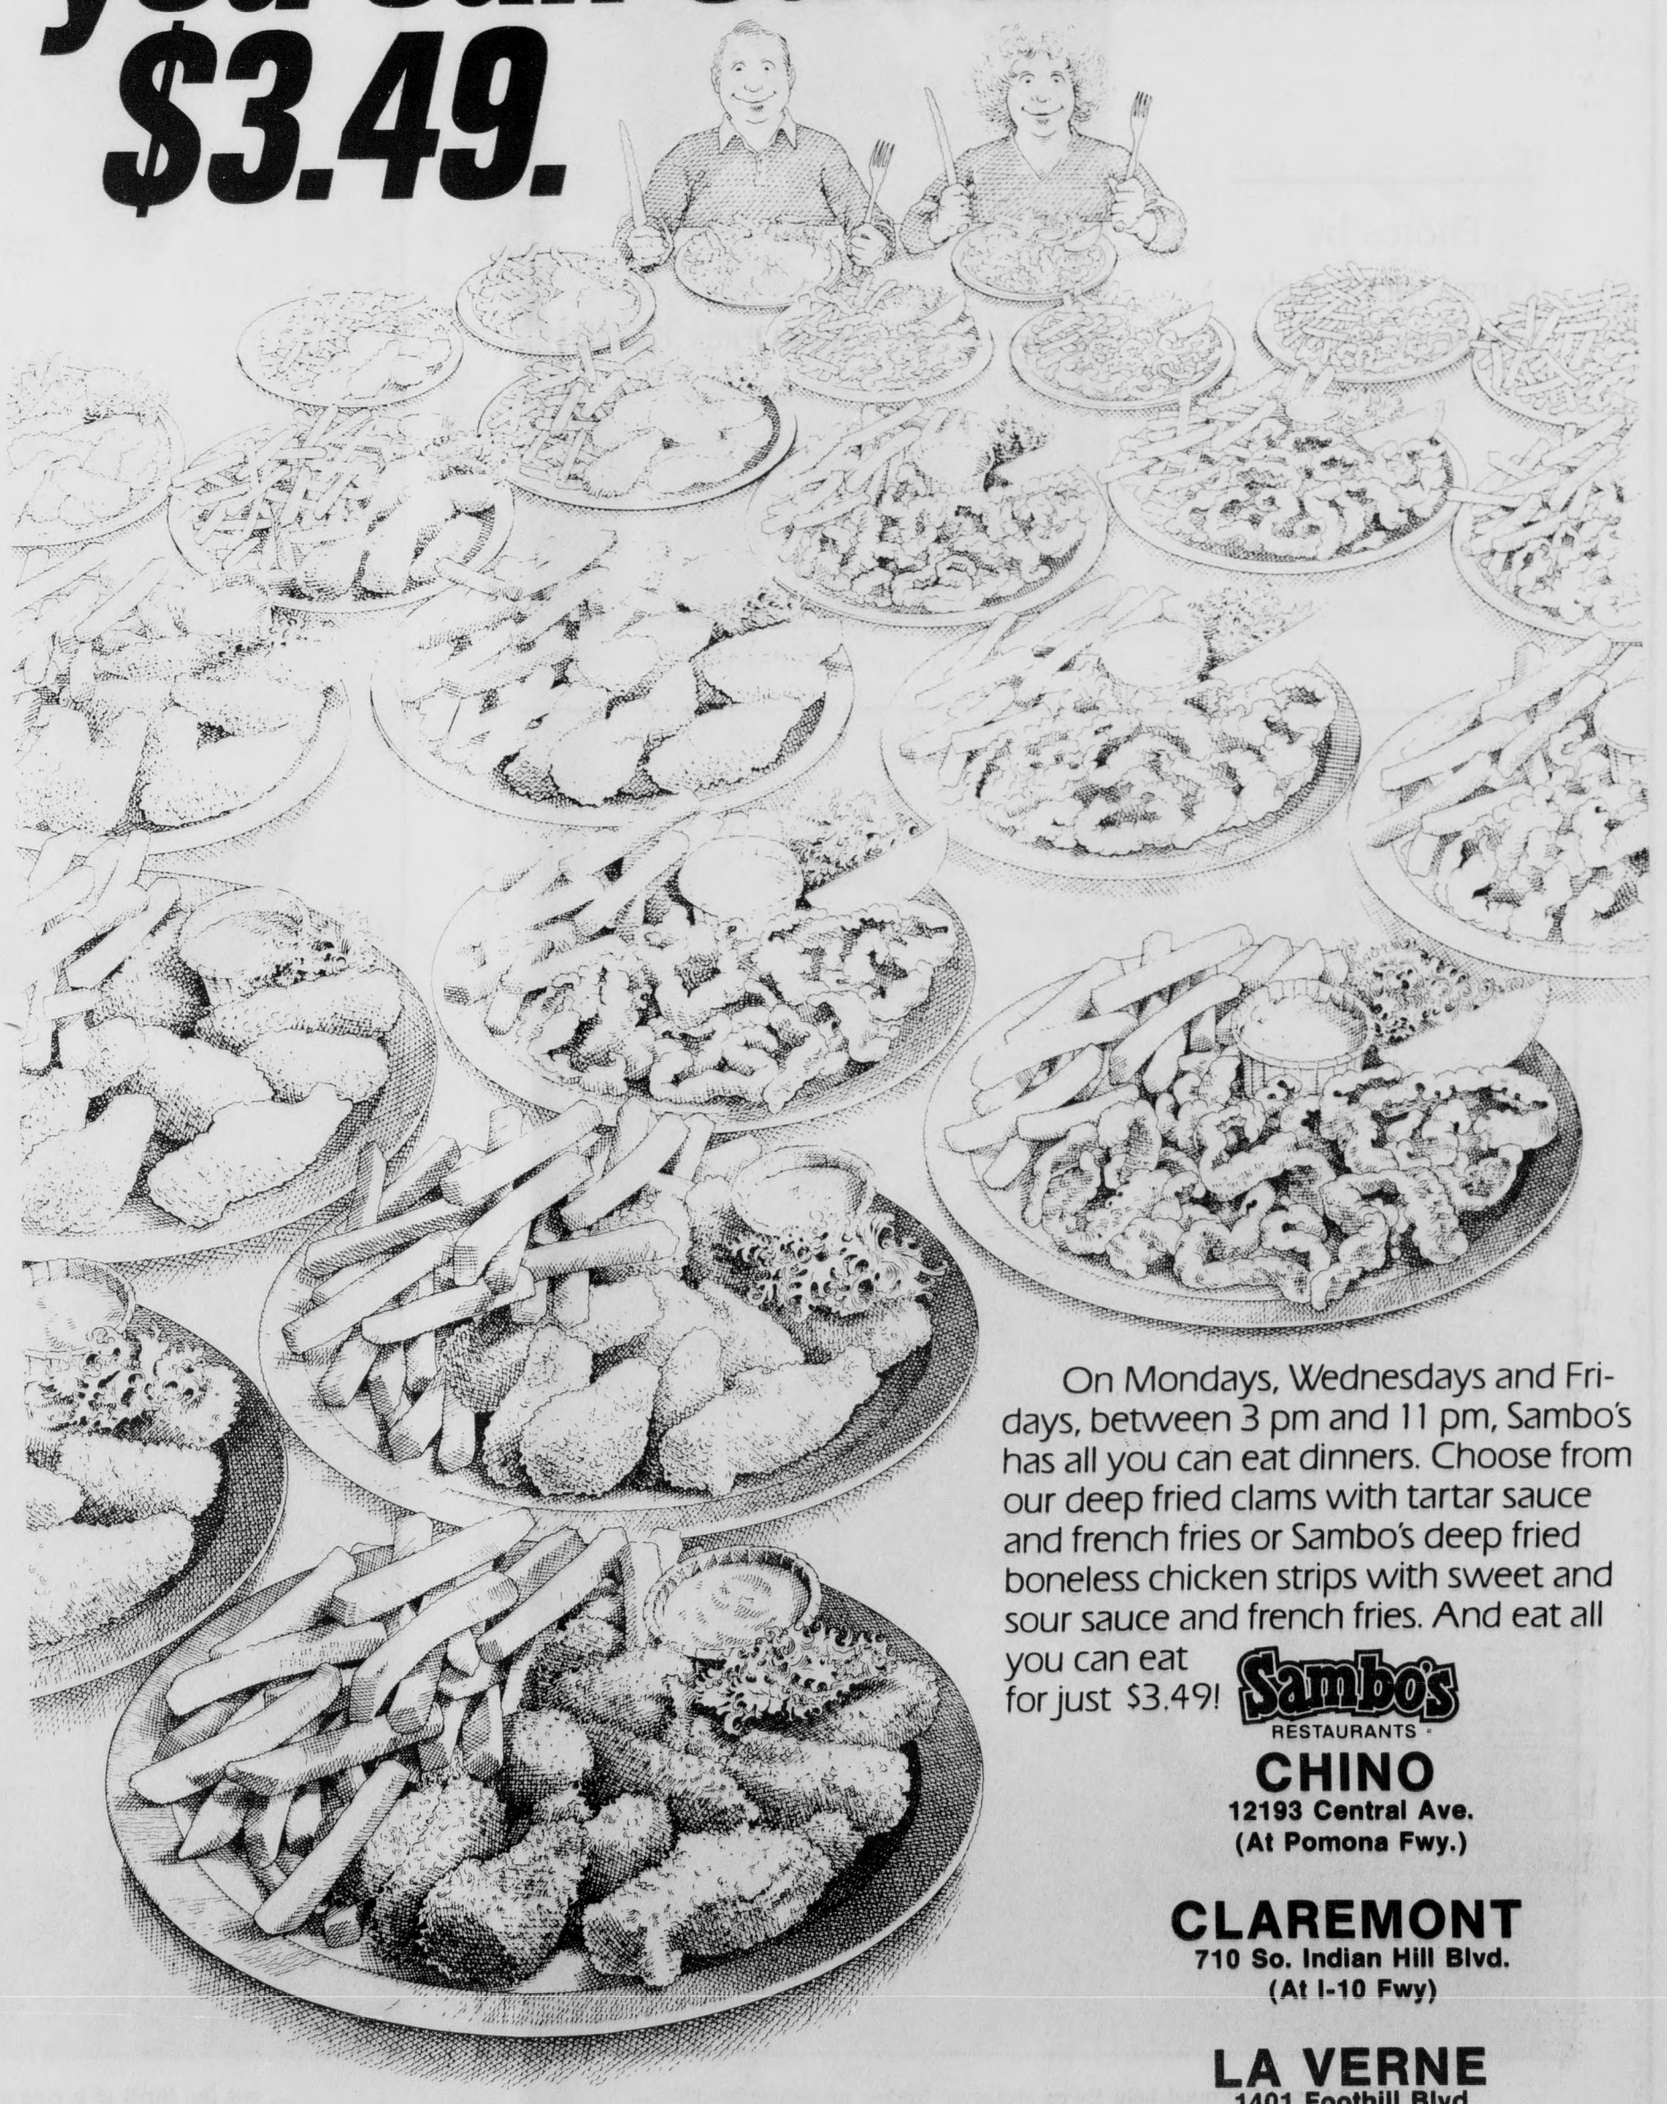

Besides clothes, books, lamps and appliances, the Economy Shop often sells blankets, jewelry, antiques, furniture, plumping fixtures and — especially during the Christmas season — toys.

Troutman said donations of merchandise come from estates that are closing, church groups, uncompleted garage sales and "people who just stop in and bring things."

The shop attracts unusual loyalty. One worker is Mrs. Ralph Uniake, 97, who Troutman describes as "our oldest and most consistent volunteer." She has been helping run the Economy Shop for 39 years.

Area News Briefs

New Boy Scout troop

A new Boy Scout troop for boys in the Rancho Cucamonga area will begin holding meetings Tuesday evenings from 7 to 8:30 at Carnelian Elementary School, 7015 Carnelian Ave.

Boys 11 through 17 (or those boys who are six months past their 10th birthday and have completed the fifth grade) are eligible.

Parents of prospective Boy Scouts are also invited.

Scoutmaster Ernie Altvater said the new troop has been chartered by the Old Baldy Council as Troop 643 of the Sunrise District.

The chartering organization is the Rancho Grande Kiwanis Club.

Those seeking further information may call Altvater at 987-2283 or troop committee chairman Jack Peterson at 987-2689.

Dance for fifth, sixth graders

A "Celebrate Summer" dance for fifth and sixth grade students will be held Thursday at Ontario's DeAnza Community Center.

Sponsored by the Ontario Recreation Department, the dance will be held from 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. The community center is located in DeAnza Park, 1405 S. Fern St., Ontario.

Entertainment will be provided by "Have Music — Will Travel," a professional mobile taped music system with disc jockey and light show.

There will be dancing, refreshments and a dance contest. Admission will be charged.

More information can be obtained by calling the community center at 983-3314 or by going there.

Montclair library needs books for sale

The Montclair Branch Library is soliciting used books and paperbacks for a book sale scheduled for Saturday.

The fund raising activity will be from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. in front of the Mayfair Market, at the corner of Benito Street and Central Avenue in Montclair.

Proceeds from the sale will be used to purchase new books, magazines and newspapers for the library.

Those with material to donate should call the library at 624-4671 prior to the day of the sale.

Dreier to speak

Linda Madrid, staff representative to Congressman David Dreier, will be at the Montclair branch of the county library from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday to assist residents having problems with federal agencies.

Madrid, who speaks Spanish, will meet with residents having troubles with Social Security, immigration, Medicare, the Internal Revenue Service or other federal programs.

She will be in the main meeting room of the library, Freemont Avenue south of Benito Street in the Montclair Civic Center.

Chino Library reading program

Chino Branch Library's summer reading program for children will begin Thursday. The theme this year is "The Magical Mystery Tour Game."

Any child who reads a library book may join the game and pick up a tour guide at the children's desk. By reading more books during the following eight weeks members gain points and more clues to solving the mystery book puzzle. Certificates will be awarded to children who read at least 10 books during the summer.

On Thursdays until Aug. 20 there will be programs at the library at 3:30. Films, craft programs, filmstrips and stories will be presented. The program Thursday will feature the film "JT" about a lonely boy who adopts an alley cat.

St. Joseph's King of Glory

St. Joseph's King of Glory is currently meeting on Friday evenings at 7:30 at Foursquare Church, 323 W. B St., Ontario.

Rev Cappuchino of Oceanside will speak Friday evening

Apply now for Brotherhood USA Camp

The West End Chapter of the National Conference of Christians and Jews is screening applicants for Brotherhood USA Camp.

They'll sponsor attendance for 10 West End high school students at the six-day summer camp in June or August. The camp is located at Pilgrim Pines Camp in the San Bernardino Mountains.

This summer camp began in 1950. It's programs concentrate on communication, family, racism, sexism, self-awareness, class and economics, rumor control, violence, peer counseling, leadership development, problem-solving and the role of religion.

There are also activities in crafts, arts, yoga, dance, music, verbal and non-verbal awareness, poetry, ethnic and cultural programs, ecology, finding self-identity and drama.

The camp is supervised by adults from a variety of ethnic, professional and paraprofessional backgrounds. Sponsored by the National Conference of Christaians and Jews, it is a non-profit human relations organization, part of a nationwide program to educate and eliminate prejudice and discrimination.

Further information can be obtained by calling the Ontario office of community relations, 986-1151, extension 708.

Adoptive parents picnic

A picnic for families and friends of adoptive parents is scheduled at Alma Hoffman Park in Montclair for June 27.

The gathering is sponsored by the Organization for a United Response, Southern California, Inland Empire Area Group. OURS members are families who have chosen to adopt children from other countries.

The picnic, at the corner of Central Avenue and Benito Street in Montclair, will begin at 11 a.m. Participants should bring their own picnic lunch

Junior high bowling league

The West End YMCA will kick off another junior high school bowling league June 22.

The season will run through July 27 and all games will be played at Thunderbird Lanes in Ontario. Games will be held on Monday nights from 8:30 p.m. to 10 p.m.

The program is open to any junior high school student. There is a registration fee and daily bowling fee. The bowling fee includes two games and shoe rental.

Interested bowlers can register by stopping at the West End YMCA, 215 W. C St., Ontario, by calling the Y at 986-5847 or by being at Thunderbird Lanes for the first meeting June 22 at 8:30 p.m.

Pack 614 members honored

Eight members of Cub Scout Pack 614, Valencia School, received top awards at a recent special ceremony.

The Arrow of Ligh Badge was presented to Kipp Carpenter, Jimmy DeArmond, Farid Gharavi, Alan Graham, Michael Howard, Kevin Kolodziej, Jose Mondujano and Doug Puffer. The candlelight ceremony was conducted by Webelos leader Gary Finley and his assistant, Phillip Mondujano.

Other award-winners were Brian Smith, Webelos badge; Brendon Blincoe, Steve Davis and David Starinieri, Bear badges; Darrick Chavez, Michael Coggin, Adam Costello, John Cowin, Shahab Gharavi, Adrian Mondujano, Michael Morales and Michael Rosenzweig, Wolf badges; and Larry Ziese, Bobcat badge.

Cubmaster Wendy Costello received a trophy honoring her as the first woman cubmaster of Upland Pack 614.

Office hours to be reduced

The county Public Social Services and Veterans' Affairs departments will reduce their hours open to the public on July 1.

In a change recently approved by the Board of Supervisors, the new hours are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The change from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. was requested to give county employees more time to devote to required paperwork.

Department heads said the additional time is needed to process applications for benefits and assistance in hopes of avoiding delays for recipients.

Both departments have local offices in the county building, 325 E. C St., Ontario.

Should you pay your carrier . . .

or not?

You don't have to. It's purely a matter for you to decide.

This newspaper is what is called in newspaper circles, a controlled circulation newspaper. There are dozens across the country—enough even to have conventions. The purpose of a controlled circulation newspaper is to provide local news, local service and local advertising to an important, independent, interested community.

But where does your carrier come in? They are paid a minimum allowance for delivering your local newspaper. They depend on you, really for their income, because when they collect, most of it is theirs. Controlled circulation newspapers work like that, on a voluntary pay plan.

We hope you appreciate and enjoy your newspaper enough to voluntarily pay your carrier. They are dependable. They are rendering you a service. They would like to earn the money. Pay them? Think about it.

PUBLIC NOTICE

CITY OF MONTCLAIR
NOTICE INVITING BIDS
FOR THE CONSTRUCTION
OF GEORGE
RESERVOIR PARK

RECEIPT OF PROPOSALS: Sealed proposals will be received at the Office of the City Clerk, City Hall, Montclair, California until 10:00 A.M. on Friday, July 3, 1981, for the furnishing of all labor, materials and equipment for the construction of George Reservoir Park. The words "Bid: GEORGE RESERVOIR PARK" shall appear on the envelope of each sealed bid and each envelope shall be addressed to the City Clerk, City Hall, Montclair, California. The proposals will be publicly opened and read in the Council Chambers, 5111 Benito Street, Montclair, California at 10:00 A.M., on the date above mentioned.

DESCRIPTION OF WORK: The entire work is contained in a single bid schedule. The work consists of landscape improvement including irrigation system, landscape planting and chain link fencing; parking lot/bike trail improvements consisting of A.C. paving, curbs, sidewalks, redwood header and other appurtenances required by the plans and specifications.

COMPLETION OF WORK: All work shall be completed within forty-five (45) working days after the date of the execution of the contract by the City and upon acceptance of the work a sixty (60) calendar day maintenance period is required for maintenance of landscaping.

OBTAINING CONTRACT DOCUMENTS: Plans and specifications and all contract documents may be obtained at the office of the City Engineer, City Hall, 5111 Benito Street, Montclair, California. A deposit of $10.00 is required for each set of specifications with accompanying drawings. This deposit will be refunded on the return of the plans and specifications in good condition within thirty (30) days after the proposals are opened. The specification is entitled "SPECIFICATIONS FOR THE CONSTRUCTION OF GEORGE RESERVOIR PARK."

PROPOSAL GUARANTEE: Each proposal must be accompanied by cash or by a cashier's or certified check or by a bid bond in the amount of ten percent (10%) of the amount of the bid price, made payable to the order of the City Clerk of the City of Montclair, as a guarantee that the bidder, if the award is made to him in accordance with the terms of his proposal, will promptly execute a contract in the required form, secure payment of workmen's compensation insurance and furnish a satisfactory faithful performance bond and a labor and material bond. The faithful performance bond shall be in the sum of not less than one hundred percent (100%) of the estimated aggregate of the prices stated in the proposal. The labor and material bond shall be in the sum of not less than fifty percent (50%) of the estimated aggregate amount of the payments to be made under the contract, computed on the basis of the prices stated in the proposal. In addition to the above and if requested by the City, the bidder shall furnish a financial statement of recent date. Failure to comply with this requirement will render a bid informal and shall be sufficient cause for rejection.

WAGE RATES: Bids shall be made in accordance with the prevailing hourly rate of per diem wages for this locality and project as determined by the Director of Industrial Relations pursuant to Labor Code Section 1170 et seq., a copy of which is on file with the City Engineer at 5111 Benito Street in accordance with the provisions of Labor Code Section 1773.2 which prevailing hourly rates of wages is made a part of this notice by reference as though fully set forth herein.

If the project requires employment of workers in any apprenticeable craft or trade, once awarded, the contractors or subcontractors must apply to the joint apprenticeship council unless already covered by local apprentice standards (Labor Code Section 1777.5).

OWNER'S RIGHTS RESERVED. The City Council of the City of Montclair reserves the right to reject any and all bids, to waive any informality in a bid, and to make awards as the interest of the City may require. This notice is given by order of the Council of the City of Montclair, California.

ORDINANCE NO. 81-522

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF MONTCLAIR AMENDING SEPARATE SECTIONS OF TITLE 9 OF CHAPTERS 2, 4 AND 5, AND ADDING ARTICLE 3 UNDER CHAPTER 5 OF SAME TITLE.

WHEREAS, the City Council of the City of Montclair directed the Planning Commission to analyze and make recommendations for City compliance with Senate Bill 1960 relating to installation of manufactured housing units on R-1 (single - family) lots; and

WHEREAS, on April 27, 1981, during a regular meeting, set for public hearing in accordance with the law, the Planning Commission of the City of Montclair adopted Resolution Number 776 recommending City Council adoption of Ordinance Number 81-522 adding Sections 9-4.227.1; 9-4.251.1; 9-4.253.3; 9-4.401; 9-4.502; 9-4.702(1); 9-4.(c,d,e); 9-4.1710; 9-4.1711; 9-5.301 (a-f); 9-5.302 (a-f); 9-5.303; 9-5.304 and 9-5.305, and amending Sections 9-2.01; 9-4.501; 9-4.702 (a); 9-4.702(1); 9-4.1807(b) (1) (i); 9-5.101; 9-5.105; 9-5.201; 9-5.202; 9-5.203 and 9-5.204 of Title 9 of the Montclair Municipal Code.

NOW THEREFORE, the City Council of the City of Montclair does ordain as follows:

Section I. AMENDMENT TO FEE SECTION

Sec. 9-2.01.

(g) Precise plans of design	$50.00 base rate, plus such additional sums as shall be set from time to time by resolution of the Council based upon reimbursement to the City for reasonable costs of processing such applications. PPD fee for the development of four or less single-family structures shall be as established by Council resolution.

Section II. ADDS DEFINITIONS

Sec. 9-4.227.1. Factory - Built Housing Unit.

Shall mean a unit which is either wholly or mainly manufactured at an off-site location and is assembled on site. It does not include a mobile home, mobile accessory building or a recreational vehicle.

Sec. 9-4.251.1 Manufactured Housing Unit.

Shall mean both mobile home and factory-built housing.

Sec. 9-4.251.2 Mobile Home.

Shall mean a structure transportable in one or more sections, designed and equipped to contain not more than two dwelling units to be used with or without a foundation system. "Mobile home" does not include a recreational vehicle or factory-built housing.

Sec. 9-4.251.3 Modular Home or Modular Unit.

Shall mean factory-built housing as defined in this section.

Section III. AMENDS ZONING PROVISIONS

Sec. 9-4.401. Zones Established.

In order to carry out the purposes and provisions of this chapter, the City is hereby divided into several zones, known as follows:

A-1 — Limited Agriculture Zone
R-1 — Single Family Residential Zone
R-2 — Two Family Residential Zone
R-3 — Multiple Family Residential Zone
A-P — Administrative Professional Zone
C-1 — Neighborhood Shopping Center Zone
C-2 — Restricted Commercial Zone
C-3 — General Commercial Zone
M-1 — Limited Manufacturing Zone
M-2 — General Manufacturing Zone
M-I-P — Industrial Park Manufacturing Zone
T — Tentative Zone
O — Overlay Zone

Article 5. Zoning for Specific Areas

Sec. 9-4.501. Prezoning Annexed Areas.

Areas annexed to the City shall be classified in the same or nearest comparable zone classification in which such area was classified in the county at the time of annexation and which is consistent with the adopted Montclair general plan until the Council adopts different classifications in the manner provided for zone changes in Article 21 of this Chapter. Prezoning shall be initiated concurrently with the initiation of annexation.

Section 9-4.502. Overlay Zone.

Shall be a zone in which a set of standards, requirements and/or additional privileges are employed to deal with special characteristics of a neighborhood. This zoning designation shall be applied as an addition to the standard zoning of the area by a suffix which denotes the specific options for the area.

Article 17.1 M Overlay Zone

Sec. 9-4.1710. Intent and Purpose.

The M Overlay Zone is intended to be used in conjunction with certain R-1 (single - family residential) zone areas within the City for the purpose of providing alternative means of developing such designated areas in a manner which would result in an increase to the City's alternative housing stock.

Sec. 9-4.1711. Permitted Uses.

Uses permitted in an M Overlay Zone shall be as prescribed under Section 9-4.702(a) through (l) of this Chapter.

An M Overlay Zone applies as an addition to the standard zoning of a designated area. Therefore, any uses permitted in the original zone.

(1) In R-1 areas designated by an "M" overlay (R-1/M) - one manufactured unit (including factory-build housing or mobile homes certified under the National Mobile Home Construction and Safety Standards Act of 1974) as a single - family dwelling installed on a permanent foundation system and subject to development requirements prescribed under Section 9-4.702(a).

Section V. AMENDS DEVELOPMENT STANDARDS

Sec. 9-4.704. Special Development Standards.

(c) Minimum Roof Pitch. Dwelling unit utilizing a typical gable, hip or shed roofs shall have a minimum pitch of three inches (3") in twelve inches (12").

(d) Minimum Eave Projection. Minimum eave projections shall in no case extend less than eighteen inches (18"). Additional extension may be required through precise plan of design review in order to insure proper regard for energy conservation and/or compatibility with surrounding neighborhood.

(e) Foundation Required. Units not constructed and/or installed on a concrete slab foundation shall have a continuous masonry foundation and/or enclosure.

Sec. 9-4.1807. Parking: Requirements.

(b) (1) (i) Single family: tow parking spaces in a private garage.

Section VI. AMENDS PLAN REVIEW PROCESS

CHAPTER 5. PLAN REVIEW PROCESS*

Article 1. Precise Plan of Design

Sec. 9-5.101. Required for all development other than additions to existing R-1 zone uses.

No person shall commence any use and no building permit shall be issued for any structure to be used for or in conjunction with any such use until a precise plan or design covering the parcels to be so used shall be approved as provided in this chapter, and then such use may be commenced and such building permit may be issued only in accordance with such specific, approved precise plan of design, including the terms and conditions thereof. (Sec. 1, Ord. 186, eff. April 1, 1964, as amended by Sec. 1, Ord. 212, eff. March 3, 1965)

*Additions to existing R-1 zone uses shall be exempt from the requirements of the section.

Sec. 9-5.105. Application forms.

The application for the approval of a precise plan of design, or an amendment thereof, shall be made in such form as the Planning Commission shall prescribe. The applicant shall submit to the Planning Department nine (9) copies of all the information set forth in Section 9-5.102 of this article at least eleven (11) working days before the application is to be considered at a regular meeting of the Planning Commission. A fee shall accompany the application pursuant to the procedures set forth in Section 9-2.01 of Chapter 2 of this title, (Sec. 5, Ord. 186, eff. April 1, 1964, as amended by Sec. 2, Ord. 337, eff. September 15, 1971)

Article 2. Administrative Review

Sec. 9-5.201. Intent.

The intent and purpose of administrative review procedure is to ensure that all proposed development is considered in accordance with the California Environmental Quality Act of 1974. Further, the goals of this review shall be:

(a) To provide a safe and healthful environment for the residents of Montclair.

(b) To ensure proper balance between growth and available resources in the community.

(c) To conform with the requirements of the California Environmental Quality Act of 1974.

(d) To encourage compatibility of physical development with adjoining properties and land uses in surrounding areas.

Sec. 9-5.202. Administrative Review Committee: Established: Duties and Responsibilities

The City Council hereby establishes an Administrative Review Committee consisting of the City Administrator, the Director of Community Development and the Director of Public Works.

The duties and responsibilities of the Administrative Review Committee shall be to fully implement the procedures established by CEQA. The ARC shall review all "projects", as defined by CEQA, determine their effects on the environment and make recommendations to the Planning Commission. In addition, the ARC shall review requests and make determinations on the allocation of sewer capacity to larger residential (five or more units) as well as commercial and industrial projects.

Sec. 9-5.203. Requirement: Precise Plot Plan and Related Documents

Projects requiring administrative review shall be submitted in conjunction with the following:

(a) Application for preliminary processing and sewer allocation request along with accompanying fees.

(b) Seven copies of precise plot plan specifying and including all requirements of Section 9-5.102 under precise plan of design.

(c) Environmental assessment check list.

(d) Legal description of property including a list of deed restriction, required easements, and/or dedications.

(e) A list of property owners within 300 feet typed on gummed labels.

Sec. 9-5.204. Administrative Review Committee: Procedure.

(a) Upon the receipt of a complete application, as described under Section 9-5.203, the Administrative Review Committee shall review the plan and make determination to approve and impose conditions or disapprove it. In either case, the Administrative Review Committee shall prepare a report and decision summarizing its findings and conclusions. Such decision shall be forwarded to the applicant and to the Planning Commission within the 10 days following the receipt of such complete application. Applicant may appeal to the Planning Commission, in writing, or the Planning Commission may, upon its own motion, review a decision made by the Administrative Review Committee and render its own decision.

Article 3. Development Review Process

Sec. 9-5.301. Intent.

The purpose and intent of development review preceding Planning Commission hearing is to streamline the review process involved in properly coordinating the physical aspects of a proposed development. The goals and objectives of the development review process shall include the following:

(a) Reduce amount of review time between project application and Planning Commission consideration by acquiring conditions from all reponsible City departments in an expedient manner.

(b) Minimize applicant's development cost by providing comprehensive recommendations on initial proposal.

(c) Eliminate confusion and substantiate applicant's desire to proceed with project by providing applicant with a coordinated list of recommendations and conditions from all affected City departments.

(d) Provide, when possible, alernatives to physical constraints affecting the feasibility of a project by making technical recommendations.

(e) Encourage efficient, aesthetic and desirable use of land by considering proposals in relation to existing and/or proposed development surrounding them.

(f) Encourage variety in the physical development pattern of the City by considering immediate project surroundings and, where feasible, introducing elements in contemporary development trends.

Sec. 9-5.302. Development Review Committee

The Council hereby establishes a Development Review Committee consisting of representatives from the following departments and/or departmental divisions:

(a) Planning
(b) Building
(c) Engineering
(d) Housing and Redevelopment
(e) Fire
(f) Police
(g) Other governmental agencies and civic organizations as appointed by the City Council from time to time.

The duties and responsibilities of the Development Review Committee shall be to review preliminary development proposals, provide applicant with technical advice and serve as technical advisor to the Planning staff.

Sec. 9-5.303. Requirement: Precise Plot Plan and Related Documents.

Submittals made for development review shall be in conjunction with and the same as Administrative Review Committee submittal under Section 9-5.203.

Sec. 9-5.304. Development Review Committee: Procedure

Upon receipt of preliminary development proposal, the Development Review Committee shall review the plan and produce a list of recommendations and conditions. Such list shall be forwarded to the applicant within ten working days from the date of submittal deadline. The list of recommendations shall also be forwarded to the Planning Commission for their consideration as condition of project approval.

In a case where the recommendations of the Development Review Committee have substantially altered a proposal, the applicant may be asked to resubmit the new plans for further development review.

Sec. 9-5.305. Appeals.

The Development Review Committee shall serve as an advisory body to the Planning Commission and Administrative Review Committee. Therefore, any determinations made by this Committee should not be deemed as final decisions.

Section VI. VALIDITY

If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this ordinance is for any reason held to be invalid, such holding or holdings shall not effect the validity of the remaining portions of this ordinance.

The City Council hereby declares that it would have passed this ordinance and each section, subsection sentence, clause or phrase thereof irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, subsections, sentences, clauses, or phrases be declared invalid.

Section VII. PUBLICATION

The City Clerk of the City of Montclair shall cause this ordinance to be published in the Montclair Tribune at least once within 15 days after its passage.

APPROVED AND ADOPTED THIS 1ST DAY OF JUNE, 1981.

OUT OF THIS

"Far out" aptly describes the effectiveness of Classified, because no other advertising medium in the buying and selling market has such far-reaching impact.

Consider how people's lives are influenced by Want Ads, with particular emphasis on the home, basic and recreational travel, earning of livelihood, and money-saving and money-earning opportunities. For example:

The Home. Where else but Classified would you start looking for a bigger and better house? Or apartment, condominium or mobile home? The Real Estate listings give you the essential facts. They help you decide what is suitable for your needs, thus saving hours of time, plus travel expenses.

Travel. The Want Ads are big on transportation. They not only offer you a wide choice in that new or better car, but a variety of other vehicles for your recreational pleasure -- travel trailers, motor bikes, and a good reliable bicycle. With the variety of transportations, you also are offered a comparison of quality and price that simplifies your shopping.

Livelihood. Help Wanted listings in Classified offer new and exciting employment opportunities and a chance to increase your earning power. This is the one great meeting place for employers and employees that is unmatched by any other medium.

Money. Want Ads are famous for bargains in virtually every kind of merchandise. It's where people look for a new appliance, household furnishings, musical instruments, sewing machines, typewriters -- the list goes on and on. Classified is equally noted for money-making opportunities -- where you can exchange your no-longer-needed items for a quick cash turnover. Whichever way you go, the end result is easy on your budget.

Want Ads are the favorite hunting ground for antique buffs, stamp collectors, sports fans needing equipment, and homeowners seeking help on a remodeling project.
